Hall Discounts GOP Differences

Fees $2,000,000

George Morton Levy, central figure in New York State trotting, admitted before the Moreland Act Commission in New York that a Long Island trotting track has paid him more than two million dollars in legal fees in the past 10 years. He also declared state harness racing commissioner Ben Downing in 1946 approved hiring big time gambler Frank Costello to help keep bookmakers away from Roosevelt Raceway. (AP Wirephoto).

McCarthy Says He Is Not at Odds on Issue With President

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall sought to step into the breach between President Eisenhower and Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) today by discounting the GOP's "family differences."

McCarthy himself, soon after he rejected presidential criticism in a crackling statement of his own, said in an interview, "I have no fight with Eisenhower at all...I hope the issuing of statements back and forth will drop here."

Eisenhower, without naming McCarthy in a long statement clearly aimed at him, spoke out yesterday against "disregard of fair play." McCarthy fired back that the President and he "apparently disagree only on how we should handle those who protect Communists."

Hall, who had anticipated the President in publicly taking issue with McCarthy's investigative methods, said in a speech prepared for a New York luncheon of the National Republican Club that "we are not a divided party."

Says Opposition Busy

"Our opposition, naturally, has made much of the party's 'family differences' during the past weeks," he said. "They would have you believe that we Republicans have split irrevocably over a problem involving personalities.

"That's nonsense, of course. On many issues there are degrees of opinion, emphasis and approach... in a vital matter like combatting the endless dangers of communism, both on the home front and at the council tables abroad, we are in earnest accord."

Despite Hall's prediction that the Republicans are going to display "team spirit," there wasn't much evidence of unity in party reaction to the exchange of statements yesterday by Eisenhower and McCarthy.

The Senate Republican Policy Committee gave no evidence, after a closed meeting yesterday, of any material progress toward agreement on a code of ethics for conducting hearings.

Intends to Proceed

McCarthy, one of those present, made it clear he intends to proceed as he has in the past despite anything Eisenhower or the President's friends might say about his methods.

"I'd hate to think the day would come when a President is expected to agree with every senator, and every senator to agree with the President on everything," McCarthy said.

Seaman Sails Once Again; Entry Attempt Is Rejected

Baltimore, March 4 (AP)—The Trojan Seaman sailed from Baltimore today with Charles Slanina, 56-year-old Austrian-born seaman still aboard after a last desperate attempt to re-enter the United States.

Without a country he wants to call home, Slanina finds himself trapped in a maze of immigration laws, changing political boundaries and costly mistakes dating back more than three decades.

Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut yesterday rejected Slanina's request that he be allowed to leave the American ship for extensive medical treatment here after doctors at the Public Health Service Hospital found nothing of an emergency nature wrong with Slanina.

The sturdily built seaman admitted it was a desperate attempt to be re-admitted to the land he has called home for 30 years.

Slanina dejectedly told his story last night over a cup of coffee in the small messroom of the Trojan Seaman.

It all started with a mistake, "a bad mistake I made," he said.

"I came over here in 1922 from Czechoslovakia and jumped ship. I worked as a machinist in New York for a long time before I took out my first naturalization papers.

"But I was scared. Scared to get my second papers and try to become a citizen because I thought I might get deported.

"So, I did nothing. Now, look where I am."

Slanina, born in a part of Austria that later became a section of Czechoslovakia, fought with the Austrian Army in World War 1. He deserted to join the anti-Bolshevik Czechoslova Legion which was caught up in the Russian revolution and Slanina ended up in Vladivostok.

In 1920, he returned to his homeland, was a minor government official for a time and two years later shipped to America as a merchant seaman.

He returned to the sea in 1942, when merchant seamen were needed in the World War 2 effort because, "it was sort of a patriotic thing," he said.

With a passport renewable each year from the Czech consulate in New York, Slanina said he was told he could get his citizenship if he spent five years actual sailing time on American ships.

All went well until the postwar rise of a Red government in Czechoslovakia. The consulate which issued his papers was closed and the passport became invalid.

American immigration officials told Slanina he still had seven months sailing time to go before he could become a candidate for citizenship.

He got a temporary document, "in lieu of passport" and in early December, 1952, shipped out with the Trojan Seaman.

Then the McCarran Immigration Laws became effective, and Slanina, without a valid visa or passport, was refused re-entry. He's been aboard the Trojan Seaman ever since, "14 long months," he said.

Assembly Defeats Proposal For Lowering Voting Age

Albany, March 4 (AP) — Any chance that the voting age will be lowered to 18 in New York state is out for this year.

Assembly Republicans yesterday spiked the proposal—put forth by President Eisenhower on a nationwide basis—by defeating a Democratic move to force a floor vote on teen-age ballotnig.

Justin C. Morgan of Erie county contended for the GOP that "it seems early for the state to take up" the question of reducing the minimum voting age from 21. Congress still is considering the President's proposal, he said.

In other developments yesterday:

1. The Assembly voted to ban the manufacture or sale of "hot sweaters" — wearing apparel so highly flammable as to be dangerous to the wearer.

2. The Senate approved creation of a nine-member commission to make a $150,000 study of the financing of public education, including the formula for state aid.

3. Both Houses voted unanimously to permit public officials to serve on state authorities and commissions without giving up their regular posts.

4. Two Democratic lawmakers revoiced their party's demand for a mandatory system of permanent personal registration of voters and attacked the Dewey administration's local-option proposal as "discriminatory."

Union Picketing Spreads To Brooklyn Storage

Four Articles Describe Central Area Outlook

What lies ahead in fact, what is projected by rumor and plan in the central part of Kingston is discussed in a series of four articles by Freeman staff reporter John A. Crawford, Jr., beginning today. The first story will be found on page 17.

The completion of the Broadway underpass and other factors are contributing to a rising importance in this section, business folk believe. All these are treated with objectivity as concerns the relation of this area to the rest of Kingston.

NLRB Now Is Seeking to Prevent Full Halt of Port Activity

New York, March 4 (AP)—Picketing in union jurisdictional warfare on New York's tense waterfront spread today from the piers to 70 warehouses in Brooklyn.

The National Labor Relations Board announced it would go into Federal Court this afternoon in an effort to block a complete tie-up of port operations.

Charles S. Douds, regional director, said the NLRB would seek a temporary restraining order against the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent, to halt its refusal to work on AFL trucks.

Then it will seek a Taft-Hartley injunction against the ILA, he said.

Losses Are Cited

Shipping and stevedoring companies, contending they are suffering "tremendous losses" through tieups, have asked the NLRB to act.

Members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT), picketing the warehouses in retaliation for picketing of trucks at the piers yesterday by the old International Longshoremen's Assn.

The ILA, ousted from the AFL, is vying with a new AFL-ILA for control of the piers.

Thomas L. Hickey, vice-president of the IBT, said 30 warehouses were being picketed at the Bush Terminal and "30 or 40" near Columbia Heights, both in Brooklyn.

Pier paralysis spread yesterday from Manhattan, Brooklyn and Staten Island docks to Hoboken, N. J., and alarmed shipping executives warned that a complete breakdown was "just around the corner."

Meanwhile, NLRB Trial Examiner Arthur Leff was to resume a hearing today into the hotly contested collective bargaining election last December beween the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent since it was booted out of the AFL, and the new AFL-ILA.

Charles T. Douds, regional NLRB director, said yesterday he would move in Federal Court under secondary boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act for an order to stop interference with truck movements.

The trucking dispute began last Friday.

IBM Inaugurates Regular Flights for Two Huge Plants

International Business Machines Corporation today inaugurated regularly scheduled flights between its Poughkeepsie and Endicott plants. The service, planned to facilitate transportation of non-executive personnel and vital machine parts between its plants and other important points, makes IBM one of the few businesses operating a private airline on a regularly scheduled basis.

A new twin-engine, seven-place Aero Commander, piloted by Capt. Charles A. McKinnon, former senior pilot at United Air Lines, will make two round trip flights twice weekly between IBM's Poughkeepsie and Endicott plants, and will also operate on a similar schedule between Poughkeepsie and Boston. On week-ends the plane will make flights on a non-scheduled basis between the company's plant and laboratories and Boston, Dayton, Washington, D. C., New York and other important cities to accommodate personnel engaged in important projects.

A punched card system has been set up to make immediately available data relative to the craft's operational costs on a per-hour, per-seat mile, and per-passenger mile basis. Should the volume of traffic warrant it, the company will lease or purchase additional aircraft.

Would Buy Goods

Vienna, Austria, March 4 (AP)—Communist Poland says it wants to buy refrigerators, nylons and ladies' underwear from western capitalistic countries—with the apparent exception of the United States. An announcement of Poland's new trade ambitions with the West was contained in the Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy, which reached Vienna today. Western diplomats in Vienna said the campaign for western trade appears to tie in with Russia's drive to buy consumer goods from America's allies. Zycie Warszawy said Polish trade negotiators were discussing agreements with 71 countries—41 more than in 1953—and plan to spend 2½ times more this year on imports than did the prewar regime in 1938.

Postal Clerk Exam

The U. S. Civil Service Commission announced that an examination will be held for the position of substitute clerk in the Woodstock post office at Kingston. The examination for substitute clerks at Port Ewen and at Cairo in Greene county will be held there at the same time. The positions pay 1.61½ cents an hour. Application forms may be obtained at the post offices named above.

$443,836 Contract Signed Today for Bridge Approach

Mt. Vernon Firm Gets Job of Clearing East Road to Meet Span on Rhinecliff Side

Contracts were signed today by James F. Loughran of this city, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, for the grading and draining contract on the land for the east approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

Loughran said the contract for $443,836.50 is to be done by the Grand View Construction Corporation of Mt. Vernon, the firm that built the thruway from Catskill to Saugerties.

Work on the east approach to the bridge will be under the supervision of James S. Bixby, district engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works.

Chairman Loughran said the approach road runs from Route 9G westerly crossing over the town highway known as Lemon Lane, then westerly crossing Rhinecliff-Barrytown road at the properties of the Aldrich and Chanler estates, thence southerly connecting with the easterly end of the proposed bridge structure. The distance is 1.34 miles.

Jenner Says Move Ado About Nothing

Senator Says Colleagues Feel Little Can Be Done on Matter

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) said today he regards a Republican move to tighten up the rules of Senate investigating committees as "much ado about nothing."

The Senate Republican Policy Committee last week ordered an investigation of the rules for conducting investigations.

The order was widely interpreted as aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his Senate investigations subcommittee, and at Sen. Langer (R-N. D.) for making public unevaluated accusations the Judiciary Committee had received against Chief Justice Earl Warren.

President Eisenhower voiced confidence yesterday that Congress "will respond to America's convictions in....exercising proper vigilance without being unfair."

Ten of the committee chairmen, including McCarthy, got together yesterday with Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, the policy committee chairman, for some exploratory talks. Most of them, McCarthy included, refused comment after the meeting adjourned, but Jenner told reporters:

"It was much ado about nothing.

Can't Do Much

"The general consensus was that you can't do much about it (policing the committees' rules)."

Jenner attended as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, which would handle any legislation to impose uniform rules on committees which now make their own. He also heads the Red-hunting internal security subcommittee.

Dewey Is Silent On Curran Link

Wicks Denies Using Influence

Also Quiet On Subject Aide Quits

Governor Expects Group to Make Public Names of State Workers Who Own Stock

Albany, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today refused to comment on Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran's $10,000 tieup with the establishment of the scandal-scarred Yonkers Raceway.

The governor refused also to say at a news conference whether Curran had tendered his resignation or whether it had been requested.

Dewey said with reference to the Moreland Act Commission's investigation of harness racing and its public hearings now in session:

"It would be inappropriate for me to comment on the hearings while they are in the course of being held.

Dewey also told newsmen:

1. He expected the special state commission on ethics would come up with a code of ethics but did not know whether it would cover situations uncovered by the harness racing probers.

Expects Publicity

2. He expected the Moreland Commission to make public the names of any state employes who might be shown to own stock in harness tracks.

3. His position has not changed on compulsory automobile insurance. He's still for it and expects the Legislature to approve it, "despite very large sums of money spent by the insurance lobby to defeat it."

4. New York city has 245 million dollars available in additional state aid and taxing powers to help meet its fiscal needs. The city should adjust upward the salaries of municipal employes. It would be "a cruel injustice" if it did not.

5. He expects a report soon on a study made by engineers to determine whether semi-annual automobile inspection should be required and, if so, whether the state or private garages should do the work.

6. He favors more regents scholarships but finds the budget "too tight" to do anything about it this year.

It was evident before the news conference began that Dewey did not intend to comment on the Curran situation.

Going to New York

Dewey said he was going to New York tomorrow and would confer there with several people. He said Curran was not among them.

The secretary of state testified he received a $10,000 fee in 1949 from Thomas Todarelli for bringing together Todarelli and William F. Bleakley the previous year.

Todarelli then was counsel for the Algam Corp., which was seeking to buy the Empire City flat track at Yonkers and convert it into a parimutuel harness track.

Algam bought the plant and turned it into a harness racing track.

Curran testified also that in 1952 his wife owned 900 shares of Algam stock and that he had transferred it to Joseph H. Mentz of Brooklyn, who is in the blueprint business. The transfer took place last Oct. 19, soon after Dewey had appointed the Moreland Act Commission.

Curran was appointed secretary of state when Dewey took office in 1943 and has served continously since. In 1944 he was nominated as the Republican candidate for U. S. senator but was defeated.

Held in Port

Istanbul, Turkey, March 4 (AP)—Turkish authorities held the 7,210-ton American freighter Volunteer State in port today in connection with the mystery sinking Tuesday of a small Turkish coastal vessel in which four men were lost. The ship's Istanbul agents, Gilchrist and Walker, said the Turks had issued their "stop sail" order on "circumstantial evidence" that the ship was in the Sea of Marmara where the 100-ton coaster Yayla sank early Tuesday after a collision. The ship is operated by the States Marine Corp., of Delaware and sails out of New York.

Eddyville Bridge Is Called Unsafe By Taxpayer Unit

Meeting Held in Esopus Town Points Out Some of Hazards on Old Wagon Span

At a recent meeting of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., the members attending brought to the attention of the residents of the Town of Esopus the hazardous condition that now exists on the Eddyville bridge."

Overloaded trucks, it was pointed out, traveling to and from Callanan's and the new thruway project, owned by private contractors, are dangerously exceeding the maximum load limit suggested by the state for safe use of the Eddyville span. The structure, built in the days of horse and wagons is outdated for modern conveyances was the consensus of the meeting being far too narrow. It is rapidly deterioating to a point where any further expenditures of public monies for temporary repairs would be a needless waste of taxpayers' dollars, was the opinion.

Time and time again, when a passenger car meets a truck or a bus on the structure, it becomes necesssary for one or the other to back off to allow the other to proceed, a spokesman said.

Center Support Sags

The center support in the water, has actually been observed to sag in its footings when these overloaded trucks passover the bridge one spokesman said. As a matter of safety, the meeting suggested to local residents that they do not follow any truck or bus onto the span, thereby adding seriously to the overload, but wait until the span is clear before proceeding.

A major point to be considered is the importance of this span in the event of an emergency, it was stressed, either due to a local accident or a national emergency, which may occur and cause the Rondout bridge, at Kingston to be put out of service. "Recently, when a truck struck one of the abuttments on the Rondout bridge we experienced a vivid example of the confusion caused when the bridge was declared unsafe for only a few hours in order to ascertain the amount of damage it sustained in the accident," said one taxpayer at the meeting.

Called Main Artery

Route 9W is considered by army and Civilian Defense authorities to be a through route in the event of any major disaster, it was noted, and even with the new thruway completed it will no doubt be a main artery of scenic travel for many tourists. Perhaps more-so than before, inasmuch as all heavy vehicular traffic will no doubt use the thruway, leaving Route 9W for the use of the casual tourists who are desirous of enjoying the scenic wonders to be found along the banks of the Hudson river.

"Consider then, the tremendous traffic snarl that would develop if 9W traffic were re-routed over the Eddyville Bridge," a spokesman said. "It is true that some of the traffice could be detoured to route 32 but for expediency the

Refutes Wiswall Testimony on Appointment of Way

New York, March 4 (AP)—A former secretary of the State Harness Racing Commission testified today Senator Arthur Wicks and Assembly Speaker Oswald Heck sought to influence the appointment of some harness tracks officials.

Frank L. Wiswall, who also is a former state senator and now is president of the Saratoga Harness Racing Assn., said the late Irwin Steingut, former Democratic minority leader of the Assembly, and Pat E. Provenzano, upstate Republican leader, also spoke to him about track matters while he was Harness Racing Commission secretary.

Wiswall was testifying before a Moreland Act Commission investigating harness racing concerning conversations he had with political leaders about track matters.

No Further Identification

Wiswall told a public hearing of the commission that Senator Wicks, a Republican, called him at one time and said "he wanted Dr. Way of Westport named as a steward in place of Dr. Pierce."

Wiswall did not further identify the two men or the track concerned.

He said Wicks "suggested I should be able to effectuate this."

"I told him the commissioners were all grown men, that they had their own opinions and that there was nothing I could do about it," Wiswall continued.

The witness said Wicks "became a little heated," adding:

"I can get heated, too, and I told him if I were a commissioner I wouldn't do it. The commission didn't."

Wicks Gives Denial

At his office in Kingston, Wicks said "to the best of my

Woman Stabbed By Man at Library

Monticello, March 4 (AP)—The 76-year-old mother of a Monticello bank president was in fair condition today, the victim of three vicious stab wounds in the stomach.

A doctor who attended the woman, Mrs. Frank Grubs, said she came through emergency surgery all right and he thought her condition would improve.

They said Mc Caskill admitted the attack last night at the Crawford Memorial Library.

He was quoted as saying he went to the library, which had closed for the night, to get some books, "got scared" when Mrs. Grubs accosted him and stabbed her with a pocket knife.

Mrs. Grubs has an apartment at the rear of the library.

Her son, Joseph, president of the Sullivan County Trust Co., is on vacation in Florida.

Mc Caskill fled and was arrested in South Fallsburg by police who said they acted on a tip.

Bentley Is Off Critical List; Four Held in $100,000 Bail

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Four Puerto Ricans accused of wounding five congressmen in a wild outburst of pistol fire were under indictments today that carry a possible total sentence of 75 years imprisonment.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R.-Mich.), the most gravely injured of the legislators, was still in serious condition, but no longer on the critical list. The others were improving.

Dr. Joseph R. Young, chief of staff at Casualty Hospital, said in a morning bulletin that Bentley was troubled with hiccoughs and did not rest quite as well last night as the night before. He reported the congressman's condition as "essentially unchanged," however, and said temperature, pulse and blood pressure continued satisfactory, with breathing improved.

Federal prosecutors and a grand jury took little more than the minimum time yesterday to go over the evidence on Monday's shooting spree in the House of Representatives chamber. U. S. Atty. Leo A. Rover used six witnesses, including one member of Congress, Rep. Paul W. Shafer (R.-Mich.), to present the case in one hour and 45 minutes.

Almost immediately afterward the grand jury voted indictments charging assault with intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon against Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34; Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28; Andres F. Cordero, 29, and Rafael C. Miranda, 25.

All were held in $100,000 bail each. Police said all but Rodri-

Then it will seek a Taft-Hartley injunction against the ILA, he said.

Losses Are Cited

Shipping and stevedoring companies, contending they are suffering "tremendous losses" through tie-ups, have asked the NLRB to act.

Members of the AFL International Brotherhood of Teamsters (IBT), picketing the warehouses in retaliation for picketing of trucks at the piers yesterday by the old International Longshoremen's Assn.

The ILA, ousted from the AFL, is vying with a new AFL-ILA for control of the piers.

Thomas L. Hickey, vice-president of the IBT, said 30 warehouses were being picketed at the Bush Terminal and "30 or 40" near Columbia Heights, both in Brooklyn.

Pier paralysis spread yesterday from Manhattan, Brooklyn and Staten Island docks to Hoboken, N. J., and alarmed shipping executives warned that a complete breakdown was "just around the corner."

Meanwhile, NLRB Trial Examiner Arthur Leff was to resume a hearing today into the hotly contested collective bargaining election last December beween the International Longshoremen's Assn., independent since it was booted out of the AFL, and the new AFL-ILA.

Charles T. Douds, regional NLRB director, said yesterday he would move in Federal Court under secondary boycott provisions of the Taft-Hartley Act for an order to stop interference with truck movements.

The trucking dispute began last Friday.

Four Articles Describe Central Area Outlook

What lies ahead in fact, what is projected by rumor and plan in the central part of Kingston is discussed in a series of four articles by Freeman staff reporter John A. Crawford, Jr., beginning today. The first story will be found on page 17.

The completion of the Broadway underpass and other factors are contributing to a rising importance in this section, business folk believe. All these are treated with objectivity as concerns the relation of this area to the rest of Kingston.

IBM Inaugurates Regular Flights for Two Huge Plants

International Business Machines Corporation today inaugurated regularly scheduled flights between its Poughkeepsie and Endicott plants. The service, planned to facilitate transportation of non-executive personnel and vital machine parts between its plants and other important points, makes IBM one of the few businesses operating a private airline on a regularly scheduled basis.

A new twin-engine, seven-place Aero Commander, piloted by Capt. Charles A. McKinnon, former senior pilot at United Air Lines, will make two round trip flights twice weekly between IBM's Poughkeepsie and Endicott plants, and will also operate on a similar schedule between Poughkeepsie and Boston. On week-ends the plane will make flights on a non-scheduled basis between the company's plant and laboratories and Boston, Dayton, Washington, D. C., New York and other important cities to accommodate personnel engaged in important projects.

A punched card system has been set up to make immediately available data relative to the craft's operational costs on a per-hour, per-seat mile, and per-passenger mile basis. Should the volume of traffic warrant it, the company will lease or purchase additional aircraft.

Pope Has 'Good' Night

Vatican City, March 4 (AP)—The Pope passed his eighth consecutive "fairly good" night and his slow progress toward recovery continues today, Vatican sources said.

Would Buy Goods

Vienna, Austria, March 4 (AP)—Communist Poland says it wants to buy refrigerators, nylons and ladies' underwear from western capitalistic countries—with the apparent exception of the United States. An announcement of Poland's new trade ambitions with the West was contained in the Warsaw newspaper Zycie Warszawy, which reached Vienna today. Western diplomats in Vienna said the campaign for western trade appears to tie in with Russia's drive to buy consumer goods from America's allies. Zycie Warszawy said Polish trade negotiators were discussing agreements with 71 countries—41 more than in 1953—and plan to spend 2½ times more this year on imports than did the prewar regime in 1938.

$443,836 Contract Signed Today for Bridge Approach

Mt. Vernon Firm Gets Job of Clearing East Road to Meet Span on Rhinecliff Side

Contracts were signed today by James F. Loughran of this city, chairman of the New York State Bridge Authority, for the grading and draining contract on the land for the east approach to the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

Loughran said the contract for $443,836.50 is to be done by the Grand View Construction Corporation of Mt. Vernon, the firm that built the thruway from Catskill to Saugerties.

Work on the east approach to the bridge will be under the supervision of James S. Bixby, district engineer of the New York State Department of Public Works.

Chairman Loughran said the approach road runs from Route 9G westerly crossing over the town highway known as Lemon Lane, then westerly crossing Rhinecliff-Barrytown road at the properties of the Aldrich and Chanler estates, thence southerly connecting with the easterly end of the proposed bridge structure. The distance is 1.34 miles.

Jenner Says Move Ado About Nothing

Senator Says Colleagues Feel Little Can Be Done on Matter

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Sen. Jenner (R-Ind.) said today he regards a Republican move to tighten up the rules of Senate investigating committees as "much ado about nothing."

The Senate Republican Policy Committee last week ordered an investigation of the rules for conducting investigations.

The order was widely interpreted as aimed at Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) and his Senate investigations subcommittee, and at Sen. Langer (R-N. D.) for making public unevaluated accusations the Judiciary Committee had received against Chief Justice Earl Warren.

President Eisenhower voiced confidence yesterday that Congress "will respond to America's convictions in....exercising proper vigilance without being unfair."

Ten of the committee chairmen, including McCarthy, got together yesterday with Sen. Ferguson of Michigan, the policy committee chairman, for some exploratory talks. Most of them, McCarthy included, refused comment after the meeting adjourned, but Jenner told reporters:

"It was much ado about nothing.

Can't Do Much

"The general consensus was that you can't do much about it (policing the committees' rules)."

Jenner attended as chairman of the Senate Rules Committee, which would handle any legislation to impose uniform rules on committees which now make their own. He also heads the Red-hunting internal security subcommittee.

Dewey Is Silent On Curran Link

Wicks Denies Using Influence

Also Quiet On Subject Aide Quits

Governor Expects Group to Make Public Names of State Workers Who Own Stock

Albany, March 4 (AP)—Gov. Dewey today refused to comment on Secretary of State Thomas J. Curran's $10,000 tieup with the establishment of the scandal-scarred Yonkers Raceway.

The governor refused also to say at a news conference whether Curran had tendered his resignation or whether it had been requested.

Dewey said with reference to the Moreland Act Commission's investigation of harness racing and its public hearings now in session:

"It would be inappropriate for me to comment on the hearings while they are in the course of being held.

Dewey also told newsmen:

1. He expected the special state commission on ethics would come up with a code of ethics but did not know whether it would cover situations uncovered by the harness racing probers.

Expects Publicity

2. He expected the Moreland Commission to make public the names of any state employes who might be shown to own stock in harness tracks.

3. His position has not changed on compulsory automobile insurance. He's still for it and expects the Legislature to approve it, "despite very large sums of money spent by the insurance lobby to defeat it."

4. New York city has 245 million dollars available in additional state aid and taxing powers to help meet its fiscal needs. The city should adjust upward the salaries of municipal employes. It would be "a cruel injustice" if it did not.

5. He expects a report soon on a study made by engineers to determine whether semi-annual automobile inspection should be required and, if so, whether the state or private garages should do the work.

6. He favors more regents scholarships but finds the budget "too tight" to do anything about it this year.

It was evident before the news conference began that Dewey did not intend to comment on the Curran situation.

Going to New York

Dewey said he was going to New York tomorrow and would confer there with several people. He said Curran was not among them.

The secretary of state testified he received a $10,000 fee in 1949 from Thomas Todarelli for bringing together Todarelli and William F. Bleakley the previous year.

Todarelli then was counsel for the Algam Corp., which was seeking to buy the Empire City flat track at Yonkers and convert it into a parimutuel harness track.

Algam bought the plant and turned it into a harness racing track.

Curran testified also that in 1952 his wife owned 900 shares of Algam stock and that he had transferred it to Joseph H. Mentz of Brooklyn, who is in the blueprint business. The transfer took place last Oct. 19, soon after Dewey had appointed the Moreland Act Commission.

Curran was appointed secretary of state when Dewey took office in 1943 and has served continously since. In 1944 he was nominated as the Republican candidate for U. S. senator but was defeated.

Held in Port

Istanbul, Turkey, March 4 (AP)—Turkish authorities held the 7,210-ton American freighter Volunteer State in port today in connection with the mystery sinking Tuesday of a small Turkish coastal vessel in which four men were lost. The ship's Istanbul agents, Gilchrist and Walker, said the Turks had issued their "stop sail" order on "circumstantial evidence" that the ship was in the Sea of Marmara where the 100-ton coaster Yayla sank early Tuesday after a collision. The ship is operated by the States Marine Corp., of Delaware and sails out of New York.

Eddyville Bridge Is Called Unsafe By Taxpayer Unit

Meeting Held in Esopus Town Points Out Some of Hazards on Old Wagon Span

At a recent meeting of the Town of Esopus Taxpayers Association, Inc., the members attending brought to the attention of the residents of the Town of Esopus the hazardous condition that now exists on the Eddyville bridge."

Overloaded trucks, it was pointed out, traveling to and from Callanan's and the new thruway project, owned by private contractors, are dangerously exceeding the maximum load limit suggested by the state for safe use of the Eddyville span. The structure, built in the days of horse and wagons is outdated for modern conveyances was the consensus of the meeting being far too narrow. It is rapidly deterioating to a point where any further expenditures of public monies for temporary repairs would be a needless waste of taxpayers' dollars, was the opinion.

Time and time again, when a passenger car meets a truck or a bus on the structure, it becomes necesssary for one or the other to back off to allow the other to proceed, a spokesman said.

Center Support Sags

The center support in the water, has actually been observed to sag in its footings when these overloaded trucks passover the bridge one spokesman said. As a matter of safety, the meeting suggested to local residents that they do not follow any truck or bus onto the span, thereby adding seriously to the overload, but wait until the span is clear before proceeding.

A major point to be considered is the importance of this span in the event of an emergency, it was stressed, either due to a local accident or a national emergency, which may occur and cause the Rondout bridge, at Kingston to be put out of service. "Recently, when a truck struck one of the abuttments on the Rondout bridge we experienced a vivid example of the confusion caused when the bridge was declared unsafe for only a few hours in order to ascertain the amount of damage it sustained in the accident," said one taxpayer at the meeting.

Called Main Artery

Route 9W is considered by army and Civilian Defense authorities to be a through route in the event of any major disaster, it was noted, and even with the new thruway completed it will no doubt be a main artery of scenic travel for many tourists. Perhaps more-so than before, inasmuch as all heavy vehicular traffic will no doubt use the thruway, leaving Route 9W for the use of the casual tourists who are desirous of enjoying the scenic wonders to be found along the banks of the Hudson river.

"Consider then, the tremendous traffic snarl that would develop if 9W traffic were re-routed over the Eddyville Bridge," a spokesman said. "It is true that some of the traffice could be detoured to route 32 but for expediency the

Refutes Wiswall Testimony on Appointment of Way

New York, March 4 (AP)—A former secretary of the State Harness Racing Commission testified today Senator Arthur Wicks and Assembly Speaker Oswald Heck sought to influence the appointment of some harness tracks officials.

Frank L. Wiswall, who also is a former state senator and now is president of the Saratoga Harness Racing Assn., said the late Irwin Steingut, former Democratic minority leader of the Assembly, and Pat E. Provenzano, upstate Republican leader, also spoke to him about track matters while he was Harness Racing Commission secretary.

Wiswall was testifying before a Moreland Act Commission investigating harness racing concerning conversations he had with political leaders about track matters.

No Further Identification

Wiswall told a public hearing of the commission that Senator Wicks, a Republican, called him at one time and said "he wanted Dr. Way of Westport named as a steward in place of Dr. Pierce."

Wiswall did not further identify the two men or the track concerned.

He said Wicks "suggested I should be able to effectuate this."

"I told him the commissioners were all grown men, that they had their own opinions and that there was nothing I could do about it," Wiswall continued.

The witness said Wicks "became a little heated," adding:

"I can get heated, too, and I told him if I were a commissioner I wouldn't do it. The commission didn't."

Wicks Gives Denial

At his office in Kingston, Wicks said "to the best of my

Woman Stabbed By Man at Library

Monticello, March 4 (AP)—The 76-year-old mother of a Monticello bank president was in fair condition today, the victim of three vicious stab wounds in the stomach.

A doctor who attended the woman, Mrs. Frank Grubs, said she came through emergency surgery all right and he thought her condition would improve.

They said Mc Caskill admitted the attack last night at the Crawford Memorial Library.

He was quoted as saying he went to the library, which had closed for the night, to get some books, "got scared" when Mrs. Grubs accosted him and stabbed her with a pocket knife.

Mrs. Grubs has an apartment at the rear of the library.

Her son, Joseph, president of the Sullivan County Trust Co., is on vacation in Florida.

Mc Caskill fled and was arrested in South Fallsburg by police who said they acted on a tip.

Bentley Is Off Critical List; Four Held in $100,000 Bail

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Four Puerto Ricans accused of wounding five congressmen in a wild outburst of pistol fire were under indictments today that carry a possible total sentence of 75 years imprisonment.

Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R.-Mich.), the most gravely injured of the legislators, was still in serious condition, but no longer on the critical list. The others were improving.

Dr. Joseph R. Young, chief of staff at Casualty Hospital, said in a morning bulletin that Bentley was troubled with hiccoughs and did not rest quite as well last night as the night before. He reported the congressman's condition as "essentially unchanged," however, and said temperature, pulse and blood pressure continued satisfactory, with breathing improved.

Federal prosecutors and a grand jury took little more than the minimum time yesterday to go over the evidence on Monday's shooting spree in the House of Representatives chamber. U. S. Atty. Leo A. Rover used six witnesses, including one member of Congress, Rep. Paul W. Shafer (R.-Mich.), to present the case in one hour and 45 minutes.

Almost immediately afterward the grand jury voted indictments charging assault with intent to kill and assault with a dangerous weapon against Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34; Irving Flores Rodriguez, 28; Andres F. Cordero, 29, and Rafael C. Miranda, 25.

All were held in $100,000 bail each. Police said all but Rodri-

The President Prepares to Speak

Milk Spokesman Has Fear of Strike

New York, March 4 (AP)—A milk industry spokesman expressed fear last night of a strike of AFL operating engineers which he said could cut off most milk supplies in the metropolitan area and northern New Jersey.

Irving R. Wisch, chairman of the New York and northern New Jersey metropolitan area milk dealers labor committee, said he feared a strike of 200 engineers, adding:

"Milk cannot be produced if engine rooms do not operate."

The engineers furnish steam for pasteurization and operate refrigeration equipment.

At Trenton, N. J., Sidney C. Rowe, of the Milk Dealers Assn. of northern New Jersey, announced that negotiations had broken down with New Jersey engineers and the "union has indicated that a strike vote will be taken" tonight.

Officials Not Reached

Wisch, however, declined to say whether a strike had been threatened, and union officials could not be reached immediately.

Wisch said negotiations became deadlocked despite "intensive efforts" of state mediators from New York and New Jersey.

Wisch said the union had demanded a two-year contract with wage increases and other benefits amounting to about $17 a week the first year and $21 a week the second year.

Rowe's statement about the union's strike vote plans in New Jersey was made with a public hearing yesterday on milk prices at Trenton, N. J., conducted by the State Office of Milk Industry.

Returns From Korea

New Delhi, March 4 (AP)—Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya returned from Korea today and said he opposes voluntary repatriation of war prisoners—the process he supervised as chairman of the recently dissolved Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission. "This new type of warfare—the conversion of the mind—puts a premium on voluntary desertion," he told newsmen at the airport. "Are you going to have a Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission at the end of every war?"

Guests Evacuated At Boston Hotel

Boston, March 4 (AP)—Three guests were assisted down ladders and 500 others were evacuated down three elevators and a staircase as fire swept the fifth floor of the famed 14-story Parker House early today.

Joseph C. Fitzgerald, 47, of Coral Gables, Fla., one of three men brought down ladders, suffered smoke inhalation and was treated at Boston City Hospital.

There were no other casualties.

Kenneth A. Hartley, 39, of Baltimore, Md., and Gordon Shillinglaw, 27, of Yonkers, N. Y., were the other two guests helped down ladders.

Most of the guests—dressed in overcoats thrown over nightclothes—took refuge in the hotel lobby. Others went to nearby all-night restaurants.

No Panic Among Guests

Martha Stuart, a New York magazine executive, said there was no panic among guests. She said many guests helped awaken others and together descended to the lobby.

The blaze was confined to the fifth floor of the hostelry in the heart of downtown Boston.

Deputy Fire Chief Edward Gaughan said the blaze started among decorative jewelry and novelties stacked in boxes in the fifth floor corridor in preparation for a sales show in the hotel Friday.

He estimated damage at $4,500 and called in the department's arson squad to try to determine its cause.

BRITAIN SEEKS CLOSER EDC

Word comes from London that Great Britain has drafted a treaty under which it would be closely linked politically and militarily to the European Defense Community. This is an important step in an earnest effort to assuage French fears that Germany would dominate EDC.

These fears have long constituted the central fact in the unhappy delay over ratification of the EDC pact. Recognizing this, the British have for more than a year labored in close conjunction with French and other European diplomats to produce an arrangement that could serve as an offset.

The text of the proposed treaty has not yet been published, but there seems little question the British government is ready to commit itself. Prime Minister Churchill expressed his country's attitude toward the EDC nations: "We are with them, but not of them."

As part of the proffered plan, the British would agree to an extension of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization from the present 20-year period to 50 years — the proposed life of the EDC pact.

EDC forces and British units in Germany would serve under a common commander in furtherance of the "efficient working relationship" Britain seeks. Britain would send staff officers to assist in organizing European training and logistics, and to instruct in coordination of land and air warfare.

There would be some interlocking of staff representation between the European army and the British army of the Rhine. Air force linkage would be even closer.

The British feel this is as far as they can go in tying themselves into the defense of continental Europe. But they believe it ought to be far enough to prevent the Germans from dominating the West European military scene, and should therefore be convincing assurance to the worried French.

Although Rene Pleven was intimately involved in the discussions which produced the new British treaty draft, that is no guarantee the French will accept it. But when this proposal becomes a firm public offer, the French will be on the spot with regard to EDC as they have never been before.

The British clearly are endeavoring in this matter to give the French all support short of actual EDC membership. From this distance, at least, the British commitment looks highly substantial. The French may be hard put to explain to the waiting free world why they do not find it satisfactory.

UTILIZING THE DESERT

Deserts have usually been considered portions of the earth which could profitably have been omitted from the scheme of creation, for all the good they do. The discovery of oil in some desert areas is forcing some people to take a new look at these cheerless regions. Now it appears that still other possibilities of usefulness exist in the very sand that constitutes these waste areas.

At the Persian Gulf oil center of Kuwait a process has been evolved whereby sand can be turned into bricks, plaster and partition boards. Factories will soon be built at Kuwait which hope to produce 250,000 bricks a week.

Perhaps there is no really useless material. It merely remains to find out what it is good for.

TREATING 'RED' THROATS

When the new Italian premier, Mario Scelba, presented his program to the Italian parliament the other day, he was almost howled down by Communist and Rightist extremists.

The meeting finally broke up in disorder when jeering Communists stalked out. One reporter described the session as one of the most turbulent in Italy in the past year. That's saying quite a lot in Rome.

No doubt the Communists represent this howling as the authentic voice of the people. It must puzzle a good many that the voice—speaking for "humanity"—is always so strident. If this really is it, the thing to do is get yourself the throat-lozenge concession wherever it is making itself heard.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE WORLD DOES MOVE

It was never intended that the Constitution of the United States should be a static document, hopelessly rigid against the future. When the Constitution was adopted, the United States consisted of 13 former British colonies on the Eastern seaboard; today it is the basic law of 48 states from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to Mexico. When the Constitution was adopted, the population of the United States was about 3,000,000 persons; today, the population has grown to 160,000,000. It would be belaboring a point to compare the numerous contrasts between 1789 and 1954, not the least of which is our deep involvement in the affairs of Europe and Asia.

Thomas Jefferson, who always feared the power of government, wrote:

". . . It would reduce the whole instrument to a single phrase—that of instituting a Congress with power to do whatever would be for the good of the United States; and, as they would be the sole judges of the good or evil, it would be also a power to do whatever evil they pleased. . . ."

In Washington's Farewell Address this appears:

It is important, likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism. . . ."

Then George Washington said:

". . . If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. . . ."

In a word, the Constitution must ever be a living document, adjusted by judicial interpretation or amended in conformity to the will of the people. The reactionaries who now insist that nothing should be done about the Constitution either overlook, or desire the people to disregard, the provision within the Constitution itself for amendment:

"The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress. . . ."

One is often startled at the extremist statements on this subject by those who have opposed the Bricker Amendment or any substitute for it. Let us disregard altogether the virtues, if any, of the proposed amendments, but we cannot ignore some of the arguments employed against them, for they often lead to confusions of dangerous magnitude. This, we must bear in mind, is a government of the people of the various states, not a government by an elite.

For instance, Joseph O'Meara, Dean of the Law School of the University of Notre Dame, who succeeded the brilliant Dean Clarence Manion, said:

". . . Those who are working so hard for the adoption of the Bricker Amendment, for the most part at any rate, are people who want to secede from the world. . . ."

Already the Constitution has been amended 22 times and the United States has not been withdrawn from the world. Why should a clarifying amendment governing the relations of the Executive and the Legislative branches of the government withdraw this country from the world? The confusion of thought in the above quoted paragraph is startling because it comes from a lawyer who must know that it would be impossible to withdraw the United States from the world at an historical moment when this country is actually engaged in staving off a war with a potent enemy. The enemy would reject withdrawal.

Erwin N. Griswold, Dean of the Harvard Law School, gives a more reactionary reason for opposition to these amendments. He says:

". . . The national safeguards against mistakes in foreign policy should remain where they were placed in 1789."

MORE THAN ONE X-RAY EXAMINATION

"Within two years after Roentgen's discovery of X-rays, Dr. Cannon, the Yale physiologist, studied the movements of the stomach and intestines of cats on the fluoroscopic screen after giving them food mixed with bismuth subnitrate." I am quoting Drs. Robert B. Jeffrey and Paul Swenson, Philadelphia, in the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Shortly afterwards, Dr. Francis Williams applied this same method on human beings and an important and extremely useful method for examination of the digestive tract (stomach and intestines) had its beginning. Today, this same method of probing the condition of stomach and intestines remains the safest and most informative.

While X-ray study of stomach and intestine remains the method most used, Drs. Swenson and Jeffrey state that it has its limitations. There may be several instances in which a properly conducted and interpreted X-ray examination of stomach and intestines yields results that appear to be normal, but disease is actually present which does not show in the X-ray.

A suitable contrast medium, usually barium sulphate is used to coat the lining of the stomach and intestines. All variations in technique should be used to obtain maximum information. This is important in order to avoid too much handling that may add to the very ill patient's distress and complicate his illness.

"The demonstration of any disease of the stomach and intestine is dependent on its size, produces a filling, or interferes with the action of its walls. The colon (large intestine) can be the most satisfactory part of the stomach and intestine for examination provided good preparation has been accomplished, for one can control the amount and admixture of barium and air and produce the proper double contrast if necessary and can palpate (feel with the fingers) successfully."

Finally, just as in other parts of the body, emotional and allergic manifestations can produce marked change in the appearance of the bowel. This means that the causes of certain changes in the bowel may be difficult to discover as in most cases these changes do not follow any regular pattern.

From the above fragmentary information about the X-ray of stomach and intestine, we learn that a series of X-rays should be made as a slow-growing cancer can cause confusion when only one X-ray examination is made.

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — All Washington interest in foreign affairs now centers on the Far East peace conference scheduled to open at Geneva, Switzerland, April 26.

It is a subject that can be dealt with at present only in terms of broadest speculation. It will be something new in international conferences.

At its best, it could produce peace in the Far East, though few observers really expect that.

At its worst, it could be a combination of the long-winded armistice negotiations at Panmunjom and the uncompromising attitude shown by the Communists at the Berlin conference.

Two things the Geneva conference will not be. It will not be a subject for the debating hall at the United Nations in New York. And it will not have the complicating proposals of India to consider.

The neutral nations will be out at Geneva. Russia will attend as a co-belligerent and not as a mere kibitzing neutral.

The fact that the Geneva conference is limited to actual participants in the two active Asian wars gives it only the specific problems of Korea and Indo-China to deal with. The Communists may try to enlarge the conference into a general discussion of relieving tensions all over Asia, but that is not on the agenda.

It will be a big conference, nevertheless. Seventeen allied countries that fought in Korea—if they all choose to attend—plus Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia will be on the one side—Soviet Russia, Red China, North Korea and Viet Minh will be on the other.

Will Ho Attend?

In connection with Indo-Chinese Communists, one of the interesting details to observe will be whether Ho-Chi-Minh, mysterious leader of the Viet Minh rebels, will be brought to Geneva.

Similar speculation on the make-up of the Red Chinese delegation is of interest. Will it be headed by Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, the No. 2 Communist of China? Or will the mission be entrusted to Wang Huang-hua, his aide, who was U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean's principal adversary at Panmunjom?

It is generally expected that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will head the American delegation to Geneva. He may not stay for the entire conference if it runs into a talkathon. But there is a North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting scheduled for Paris in mid-April. It will be relatively easy for Secretary Dulles to go from this conference to Geneva.

While Secretary Dulles will be in Caracas, Venezuela, for the first weeks of the Inter-American conference in March, the preliminary planning for the Geneva conference will get underway in Washington.

The strategy which the Communists will use at Geneva is now a matter on which there are only wild guesses.

Failed to Split West

One of the principal Molotov objectives at Berlin was to divide the western allies. Particularly, he tried to split off France from the NATO and EDC alliances. He failed in this with France Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. But what the position of the French government will be on these alliances by the end of April, and who her foreign minister will be, are merely two more of the uncertain foundations on which the Geneva conference will be built.

The western allies will have their first chance to try splitting the Communist bloc at this conference. While most China experts believe this is absolutely impossible, a few think it might be done. Among them is believed to be Ambassador Dean, though what his role will be at Geneva—if any— has not been determined.

Red China is known to have wanted the Korean war ended. Red China also wants more trade with the west. That is a bait to offer. What concessions Red China would be willing to make to get this bait is the question. Abandonment of North Korea has been suggested. It is a bargaining point, but for that the Red Chinese would be expected to ask recognition and admission to the UN.

Secretary Dulles has emphatically ruled out any such deal in his reports to Congress and his radio talk to the nation. But this whole subject in indicative of the high stakes for which the diplomatic game will be played at the Geneva conference.

White House Can't Erase Peress Case, and Red Tape, Negligence Win Again

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—All the statements from the White House with their hortatory words about "fair play" in dealing with Communists and all the comments by the critics of Senator McCarthy cannot erase the simple fact that Dr. Irving Peress, known to the army as a Communist, was promoted to be a major and received from the U. S. Army a certificate of honorable service. He received that certificate despite the fact that he refused to tell his own government the full facts about his behavior during his period of service in the army.

Thus has red tape and army negligence been responsible once more for one of the tragic distortions of American honor.

For it is military red tape which has kept all the facts from being known as to why the proper orders were not transmitted promptly enough so as to alert our military forces at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. Why were the requests of Admiral Kimmel and General Short for a court-martial refused?

It is army red tape which to this day keeps all the facts from being known as to why the anguished appeal of General Van Fleet for ammunition to supply our troops in Korea was disregarded and who were the persons responsible.

It is army red tape which to this day prevents a congressional committee from uncovering the facts as to who were the persons responsible recently for the inefficieny of army officers in handling Communists inside the army.

President Eisenhower has recognized the gravity of the problem. In his latest statement he says:

"The Department of the Army made serious errors in handling the Peress case and the secretary of the army so stated publicly, almost a month ago.

"The army is correcting its procedures to avoid such mistakes in the future. I am completely confident that Secretary Stevens will be successful in this effort."

But is this all that's going to happen? What about the persons who made the blunders? Are they to go scot free? And would anything like this have been detected had it not been for the persistence of the permanent subcommittee on investigations of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, of which Senator McCarthy happens to be chairman?

The President discussed "codes of fair procedure" which he hopes congressional committees will establish and said that "in opposing communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or carelessness, we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

What instances in this whole Peress record can the President cite which any "code" of procedure would cure? Major Peress was before Senator McCarthy's committee and refused to tell whether he had been engaged in espionage while in the army or whether he had recruited persons in the army for the Communist cell of which he was a member. He refused to tell who in the army aided him in avoiding overseas duty. He had counsel at his side at all times during the hearing. Was he not treated fairly?

General Zwicker sat through the hearing at which a New York policewoman identified Peress as a Communist, and he said he learned nothing new or anything to cause him concern. He admitted that, despite his knowledge, he did nothing at all to hold up the honorable discharge certificate. But he admitted that, if he had been told that the night before a man had stolen $50, he would have been able to hold up that man's honorable discharge.

Senator McCarthy conducted a cross-examination of General Zwicker which was vigorous. It was not unusual in congressional committee inquiries except in one respect. Exasperated and angered by the general's indifference to the honorable discharge procedure, the senator said the general wasn't fit to wear the uniform. That was a bad mistake on the senator's part. But a loss of temper is one thing and the right to cross-examine penetratingly is something else, and neither one is going to be restrained by any "codes of fair procedure."

Senators of the "liberal" Democratic side got up on the floor of the Senate the other day and called an innocent man a liar and said he wasn't fit to hold public office. What "code of fair procedure" can restrain the tongue of any senator who says what he pleases on the floor of the Senate? It is distasteful, to be sure, but it is a right inherent in our system of checks and balances. For it was Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who once wrote that "freedom of speech is freedom for the thought we hate."

Condemnation of the loss of temper by Senator McCarthy for his bitter comment at the Zwicker hearing is in order, but this cannot obscure his vigorous pursuit of Communists in government. Nor can it wipe out the simple fact that, but for the Wisconsin senator's crusade against the tragic indifference of the army system toward Communists in the army, the new regulations and corrective measures just announced would probably never have been issued. This at least is a creditable achievement and spells progress.

Portuguese Start Village

Luanda, Portuguese Angola (AP)—Cela, a village which did not exist a year ago, is forming. With population pressure going up in the poorer provinces of Portugal the government tried to make room for emigrants. In the Angola highlands a site was found and ground prepared for settlers. It was a complete neighborhood from one of Portugal's villages. While the first fields were ploughed and corn and sweet potatoes were raised, the village church was completed together with a school. The population of Cela is over 300. Now a weekly plane service is available and more settlers are en route.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, March 3—I have just had some repartee with Herbert Bayard Swope which measures the sincerity of one of those who yowl against "McCarthyism." Herbert was editor of the old New York World. He sets forth in his biographical lumber in Who's Who that the World, in his regime, got three Pulitzer awards. A more delicate soul might have added that the Pulitzers owned the paper.

Herbert is all gall, divided into three parts, Herbert, Bayard and Swope. He was, therefore, in his time, a great police reporter. Thanks to the same quality, he has been a great hustler ever since. Much of his later years, he has fluttered around Bernie Baruch and the horse-tracks and in and out of the Roosevelt-Truman layouts in painless sinecures which made for the sort of publicity that can be distilled into high income and low-octane celebrity.

A few years ago, I had occasion to ask Herbie whether he was B.M.B.'s press agent. He boggled audibly on the phone, for he has learned to forget that he once covered police headquarters and was a social pal of the late Arnold Rothstein. Herbert said, "Well, I certainly never was in B.M.B.'s fee, if that is what you mean." I said, "sure, that is what I mean: you like to eat, don't you?" He then assured me, somewhat loftily, I thought, that the idea of charging a fee for advising the adviser of presidents was spiritually repugnant. Knowing that Hugh Johnson had served a regular hitch spooking for Bernie and smoothing out his ideas, I was more or less throwed by Herbert's plover's-egg attitude toward a familiar and lucrative offshoot of the trade of journalism. Another time I asked if he were press agent for a rich dram-seller with massive delusions of eternal wisdom and a willingness to shoot the works of promoting a reputation. Herbie nearly strangled.

Again, the term "press agent horrified him. "I am," he said, with a show of patience for old time's sake, "a policy consultant."

That time it was my turn to fall out of the chair, and when, a few days later I related this to Carl Byoir, who is Mr. Public Relations himself, Carl grinned with his crinkly eyes and said, "it makes the same difference."

Now here is the theme of today's message.

A few days ago, the "officers" of "Freedom House" voted "unanimously" to begin a "study" aimed at one-man congressional committees and the abuse of witnesses and others who might be denied a chance to face positive charges and confront their accusers. In other words, this self-appointed Band of Hope with official "headquarters" in a gritty hunch of committees, associations and all such insubstantial socio-political fungi, were formenting a meaningless reproof of Joe McCarthy and two-cents worth of publicity for themselves. Herbert Bayard Swope was one of these high-minded heroes of the mineo-hand-out, but the piece didn't say he personally went to "Freedom House." I would blame him little, if not. Because once, for my sins, I had to prowl this dismal lamasery to corner and confront President Eisenhower's off-Moscow Communist political agent in the union rackets and western Europe, the bashful Irving Brown. I finally cornered him only to learn that the cat had got this vicarious gut-letter's tongue. For choice, I would rather frequent the old Canal street subway station than "Freedom House."

I now swift bethought me of a book about Heywood Broun that Swope endorsed in 1949 which lauded Broun as the sum of all the virtues and blasted me as the devil of a good man's life. The writer was one Dale Kramer. When I say the author was Red, I rely on Howard Rushmore, who had the great courage to quit the party and fight it in the open. Rushmore says he sat in Communist parleys with Kramer years ago and I say Kramer wrote for the new masses when it was a racognized organ of the party.

As to Broun's own record, two witnesses swore that he was a party member while he still had time to confront and confound them and I say he wrote his mature opinion that the Soviet regime was the greatest effort ever made for human betterment.

I was mentioned many times in this Kramer book. All his statements about me were false and abusive and to this day I have never met my accuser nor did he ever call me on the phone to inquire whether any of his lies had foundation in fact.

Swope now says he knew nothing about Kramer when he endorsed his book. He had "barely met him" then and hasn't met him since, and he "probably" didn't even read the book which he so feelingly endorsed. He thought he must only have scanned the pages, for he did not notice that I was even mentioned. He impales himself on another spike when he admits he didn't know the book said the World fired Broun for an abusive article in the nation about the Irish and the Catholic church.

Broun had written, Kramer said, that the Irish were the "crybabies of the western world" and that "there was not a single New York editor who did not live in mortal terror of "The Catholic Church."

That is the ethical standard of one great gust in the storm of moral indignation against "McCarthyism."

Call the next Swope!

BRITAIN SEEKS CLOSER EDC

Word comes from London that Great Britain has drafted a treaty under which it would be closely linked politically and militarily to the European Defense Community. This is an important step in an earnest effort to assuage French fears that Germany would dominate EDC.

These fears have long constituted the central fact in the unhappy delay over ratification of the EDC pact. Recognizing this, the British have for more than a year labored in close conjunction with French and other European diplomats to produce an arrangement that could serve as an offset.

The text of the proposed treaty has not yet been published, but there seems little question the British government is ready to commit itself. Prime Minister Churchill expressed his country's attitude toward the EDC nations: "We are with them, but not of them."

As part of the proffered plan, the British would agree to an extension of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization from the present 20-year period to 50 years — the proposed life of the EDC pact.

EDC forces and British units in Germany would serve under a common commander in furtherance of the "efficient working relationship" Britain seeks. Britain would send staff officers to assist in organizing European training and logistics, and to instruct in coordination of land and air warfare.

There would be some interlocking of staff representation between the European army and the British army of the Rhine. Air force linkage would be even closer.

The British feel this is as far as they can go in tying themselves into the defense of continental Europe. But they believe it ought to be far enough to prevent the Germans from dominating the West European military scene, and should therefore be convincing assurance to the worried French.

Although Rene Pleven was intimately involved in the discussions which produced the new British treaty draft, that is no guarantee the French will accept it. But when this proposal becomes a firm public offer, the French will be on the spot with regard to EDC as they have never been before.

The British clearly are endeavoring in this matter to give the French all support short of actual EDC membership. From this distance, at least, the British commitment looks highly substantial. The French may be hard put to explain to the waiting free world why they do not find it satisfactory.

UTILIZING THE DESERT

Deserts have usually been considered portions of the earth which could profitably have been omitted from the scheme of creation, for all the good they do. The discovery of oil in some desert areas is forcing some people to take a new look at these cheerless regions. Now it appears that still other possibilities of usefulness exist in the very sand that constitutes these waste areas.

At the Persian Gulf oil center of Kuwait a process has been evolved whereby sand can be turned into bricks, plaster and partition boards. Factories will soon be built at Kuwait which hope to produce 250,000 bricks a week.

Perhaps there is no really useless material. It merely remains to find out what it is good for.

TREATING 'RED' THROATS

When the new Italian premier, Mario Scelba, presented his program to the Italian parliament the other day, he was almost howled down by Communist and Rightist extremists.

The meeting finally broke up in disorder when jeering Communists stalked out. One reporter described the session as one of the most turbulent in Italy in the past year. That's saying quite a lot in Rome.

No doubt the Communists represent this howling as the authentic voice of the people. It must puzzle a good many that the voice—speaking for "humanity"—is always so strident. If this really is it, the thing to do is get yourself the throat-lozenge concession wherever it is making itself heard.

'These Days'

THE WORLD DOES MOVE

It was never intended that the Constitution of the United States should be a static document, hopelessly rigid against the future. When the Constitution was adopted, the United States consisted of 13 former British colonies on the Eastern seaboard; today it is the basic law of 48 states from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from Canada to Mexico. When the Constitution was adopted, the population of the United States was about 3,000,000 persons; today, the population has grown to 160,000,000. It would be belaboring a point to compare the numerous contrasts between 1789 and 1954, not the least of which is our deep involvement in the affairs of Europe and Asia.

Thomas Jefferson, who always feared the power of government, wrote:

". . . It would reduce the whole instrument to a single phrase—that of instituting a Congress with power to do whatever would be for the good of the United States; and, as they would be the sole judges of the good or evil, it would be also a power to do whatever evil they pleased. . . ."

In Washington's Farewell Address this appears:

It is important, likewise, that the habits of thinking in a free country should inspire caution in those intrusted with its administration to confine themselves within their respective constitutional spheres, avoiding in the exercise of the powers of one department to encroach upon another. The spirit of encroachment tends to consolidate the powers of all the departments in one, and thus to create, whatever the form of government, a real despotism. . . ."

Then George Washington said:

". . . If in the opinion of the people the distribution or modification of the constitutional powers be in any particular wrong, let it be corrected by an amendment in the way which the Constitution designates. . . ."

In a word, the Constitution must ever be a living document, adjusted by judicial interpretation or amended in conformity to the will of the people. The reactionaries who now insist that nothing should be done about the Constitution either overlook, or desire the people to disregard, the provision within the Constitution itself for amendment:

"The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress. . . ."

One is often startled at the extremist statements on this subject by those who have opposed the Bricker Amendment or any substitute for it. Let us disregard altogether the virtues, if any, of the proposed amendments, but we cannot ignore some of the arguments employed against them, for they often lead to confusions of dangerous magnitude. This, we must bear in mind, is a government of the people of the various states, not a government by an elite.

For instance, Joseph O'Meara, Dean of the Law School of the University of Notre Dame, who succeeded the brilliant Dean Clarence Manion, said:

". . . Those who are working so hard for the adoption of the Bricker Amendment, for the most part at any rate, are people who want to secede from the world. . . ."

Already the Constitution has been amended 22 times and the United States has not been withdrawn from the world. Why should a clarifying amendment governing the relations of the Executive and the Legislative branches of the government withdraw this country from the world? The confusion of thought in the above quoted paragraph is startling because it comes from a lawyer who must know that it would be impossible to withdraw the United States from the world at an historical moment when this country is actually engaged in staving off a war with a potent enemy. The enemy would reject withdrawal.

Erwin N. Griswold, Dean of the Harvard Law School, gives a more reactionary reason for opposition to these amendments. He says:

". . . The national safeguards against mistakes in foreign policy should remain where they were placed in 1789."

Why was not everything left where it was in 1789—but everything? Maybe Dean Griswold is right. It would have been better that way. But the world does move.

Similar speculation on the make-up of the Red Chinese delegation is of interest. Will it be headed by Foreign Minister Chou En-lai, the No. 2 Communist of China? Or will the mission be entrusted to Wang Huang-hua, his aide, who was U. S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean's principal adversary at Panmunjom?

It is generally expected that U. S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will head the American delegation to Geneva. He may not stay for the entire conference if it runs into a talkathon. But there is a North Atlantic Treaty Council meeting scheduled for Paris in mid-April. It will be relatively easy for Secretary Dulles to go from this conference to Geneva.

While Secretary Dulles will be in Caracas, Venezuela, for the first weeks of the Inter-American conference in March, the preliminary planning for the Geneva conference will get underway in Washington.

The strategy which the Communists will use at Geneva is now a matter on which there are only wild guesses.

Failed to Split West

One of the principal Molotov objectives at Berlin was to divide the western allies. Particularly, he tried to split off France from the NATO and EDC alliances. He failed in this with France Foreign Minister Georges Bidault. But what the position of the French government will be on these alliances by the end of April, and who her foreign minister will be, are merely two more of the uncertain foundations on which the Geneva conference will be built.

The western allies will have their first chance to try splitting the Communist bloc at this conference. While most China experts believe this is absolutely impossible, a few think it might be done. Among them is believed to be Ambassador Dean, though what his role will be at Geneva—if any— has not been determined.

Red China is known to have wanted the Korean war ended. Red China also wants more trade with the west. That is a bait to offer. What concessions Red China would be willing to make to get this bait is the question. Abandonment of North Korea has been suggested. It is a bargaining point, but for that the Red Chinese would be expected to ask recognition and admission to the UN.

Secretary Dulles has emphatically ruled out any such deal in his reports to Congress and his radio talk to the nation. But this whole subject in indicative of the high stakes for which the diplomatic game will be played at the Geneva conference.

White House Can't Erase Peress Case, and Red Tape, Negligence Win Again

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 4—All the statements from the White House with their hortatory words about "fair play" in dealing with Communists and all the comments by the critics of Senator McCarthy cannot erase the simple fact that Dr. Irving Peress, known to the army as a Communist, was promoted to be a major and received from the U. S. Army a certificate of honorable service. He received that certificate despite the fact that he refused to tell his own government the full facts about his behavior during his period of service in the army.

Thus has red tape and army negligence been responsible once more for one of the tragic distortions of American honor.

For it is military red tape which has kept all the facts from being known as to why the proper orders were not transmitted promptly enough so as to alert our military forces at Pearl Harbor on December 7, 1941. Why were the requests of Admiral Kimmel and General Short for a court-martial refused?

It is army red tape which to this day keeps all the facts from being known as to why the anguished appeal of General Van Fleet for ammunition to supply our troops in Korea was disregarded and who were the persons responsible.

It is army red tape which to this day prevents a congressional committee from uncovering the facts as to who were the persons responsible recently for the inefficieny of army officers in handling Communists inside the army.

President Eisenhower has recognized the gravity of the problem. In his latest statement he says:

"The Department of the Army made serious errors in handling the Peress case and the secretary of the army so stated publicly, almost a month ago.

"The army is correcting its procedures to avoid such mistakes in the future. I am completely confident that Secretary Stevens will be successful in this effort."

But is this all that's going to happen? What about the persons who made the blunders? Are they to go scot free? And would anything like this have been detected had it not been for the persistence of the permanent subcommittee on investigations of the Senate Committee on Government Operations, of which Senator McCarthy happens to be chairman?

The President discussed "codes of fair procedure" which he hopes congressional committees will establish and said that "in opposing communism, we are defeating ourselves if either by design or carelessness, we use methods that do not conform to the American sense of justice and fair play."

What instances in this whole Peress record can the President cite which any "code" of procedure would cure? Major Peress was before Senator McCarthy's committee and refused to tell whether he had been engaged in espionage while in the army or whether he had recruited persons in the army for the Communist cell of which he was a member. He refused to tell who in the army aided him in avoiding overseas duty. He had counsel at his side at all times during the hearing. Was he not treated fairly?

General Zwicker sat through the hearing at which a New York policewoman identified Peress as a Communist, and he said he learned nothing new or anything to cause him concern. He admitted that, despite his knowledge, he did nothing at all to hold up the honorable discharge certificate. But he admitted that, if he had been told that the night before a man had stolen $50, he would have been able to hold up that man's honorable discharge.

Senator McCarthy conducted a cross-examination of General Zwicker which was vigorous. It was not unusual in congressional committee inquiries except in one respect. Exasperated and angered by the general's indifference to the honorable discharge procedure, the senator said the general wasn't fit to wear the uniform. That was a bad mistake on the senator's part. But a loss of temper is one thing and the right to cross-examine penetratingly is something else, and neither one is going to be restrained by any "codes of fair procedure."

Senators of the "liberal" Democratic side got up on the floor of the Senate the other day and called an innocent man a liar and said he wasn't fit to hold public office. What "code of fair procedure" can restrain the tongue of any senator who says what he pleases on the floor of the Senate? It is distasteful, to be sure, but it is a right inherent in our system of checks and balances. For it was Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes who once wrote that "freedom of speech is freedom for the thought we hate."

Condemnation of the loss of temper by Senator McCarthy for his bitter comment at the Zwicker hearing is in order, but this cannot obscure his vigorous pursuit of Communists in government. Nor can it wipe out the simple fact that, but for the Wisconsin senator's crusade against the tragic indifference of the army system toward Communists in the army, the new regulations and corrective measures just announced would probably never have been issued. This at least is a creditable achievement and spells progress.

Portuguese Start Village

Luanda, Portuguese Angola (AP)—Cela, a village which did not exist a year ago, is forming. With population pressure going up in the poorer provinces of Portugal the government tried to make room for emigrants. In the Angola highlands a site was found and ground prepared for settlers. It was a complete neighborhood from one of Portugal's villages. While the first fields were ploughed and corn and sweet potatoes were raised, the village church was completed together with a school. The population of Cela is over 300. Now a weekly plane service is available and more settlers are en route.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, March 3—I have just had some repartee with Herbert Bayard Swope which measures the sincerity of one of those who yowl against "McCarthyism." Herbert was editor of the old New York World. He sets forth in his biographical lumber in Who's Who that the World, in his regime, got three Pulitzer awards. A more delicate soul might have added that the Pulitzers owned the paper.

Herbert is all gall, divided into three parts, Herbert, Bayard and Swope. He was, therefore, in his time, a great police reporter. Thanks to the same quality, he has been a great hustler ever since. Much of his later years, he has fluttered around Bernie Baruch and the horse-tracks and in and out of the Roosevelt-Truman layouts in painless sinecures which made for the sort of publicity that can be distilled into high income and low-octane celebrity.

A few years ago, I had occasion to ask Herbie whether he was B.M.B.'s press agent. He boggled audibly on the phone, for he has learned to forget that he once covered police headquarters and was a social pal of the late Arnold Rothstein. Herbert said, "Well, I certainly never was in B.M.B.'s fee, if that is what you mean." I said, "sure, that is what I mean; you like to eat, don't you?" He then assured me, somewhat loftily, I thought, that the idea of charging a fee for advising the adviser of presidents was spiritually repugnant. Knowing that Hugh Johnson had served a regular hitch spooking for Bernie and smoothing out his ideas, I was more or less throwed by Herbert's plover's-egg attitude toward a familiar and lucrative offshoot of the trade of journalism. Another time I asked if he were press agent for a rich dram-seller with massive delusions of eternal wisdom and a willingness to shoot the works of promoting a reputation. Herbie nearly strangled.

Again, the term "press agent horrified him. "I am," he said, with a show of patience for old time's sake, "a policy consultant."

That time it was my turn to fall out of the chair, and when, a few days later I related this to Carl Byoir, who is Mr. Public Relations himself, Carl grinned with his crinkly eyes and said, "it makes the same difference."

Now here is the theme of today's message.

A few days ago, the "officers" of "Freedom House" voted "unanimously" to begin a "study" aimed at one-man congressional committees and the abuse of witnesses and others who might be denied a chance to face positive charges and confront their accusers. In other words, this self-appointed Band of Hope with official "headquarters" in a gritty hunch of committees, associations and all such insubstantial socio-political fungi, were formenting a meaningless reproof of Joe McCarthy and two-cents worth of publicity for themselves. Herbert Bayard Swope was one of these high-minded heroes of the mineo-hand-out, but the piece didn't say he personally went to "Freedom House." I would blame him little, if not. Because once, for my sins, I had to prowl this dismal lamasery to corner and confront President Eisenhower's off-Moscow Communist political agent in the union rackets and western Europe, the bashful Irving Brown. I finally cornered him only to learn that the cat had got this vicarious gut-letter's tongue. For choice, I would rather frequent the old Canal street subway station than "Freedom House."

I now swift bethought me of a book about Heywood Broun that Swope endorsed in 1949 which lauded Broun as the sum of all the virtues and blasted me as the devil of a good man's life. The writer was one Dale Kramer. When I say the author was Red, I rely on Howard Rushmore, who had the great courage to quit the party and fight it in the open. Rushmore says he sat in Communist parleys with Kramer years ago and I say Kramer wrote for the new masses when it was a racognized organ of the party.

As to Broun's own record, two witnesses swore that he was a party member while he still had time to confront and confound them and I say he wrote his mature opinion that the Soviet regime was the greatest effort ever made for human betterment.

I was mentioned many times in this Kramer book. All his statements about me were false and abusive and to this day I have never met my accuser nor did he ever call me on the phone to inquire whether any of his lies had foundation in fact.

Swope now says he knew nothing about Kramer when he endorsed his book. He had "barely met him" then and hasn't met him since, and he "probably" didn't even read the book which he so feelingly endorsed. He thought he must only have scanned the pages, for he did not notice that I was even mentioned. He impales himself on another spike when he admits he didn't know the book said the World fired Broun for an abusive article in the nation about the Irish and the Catholic church.

Broun had written, Kramer said, that the Irish were the "crybabies of the western world" and that "there was not a single New York editor who did not live in mortal terror of "The Catholic Church."

That is the ethical standard of one great gust in the storm of moral indignation against "McCarthyism."

Call the next Swope!

Teachers Will Meet Prior to Regular Session of Board

Prior to a regular meeting of the Kingston board of education this evening, there will be a meeting of the teachers group with the board at which time the teachers will present a summation of their claims and facts to sustain their demands for a new salary schedule.

This meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p. m. At that time the teachers group will present final arguments and probably the result of a campaign to test out public opinion through the circulation of a coupon in which the proposed increases were outlined. These coupons were circulated widely throughout the city and through union organizations in an endeavor on the part of the teachers to secure a cross section of public opinion in regard to their demands for an increased salary schedule.

Routine Business

Following presentation of the teachers' salary case, the board will meet in regular session but it is expected only routine business will come before the board.

The board of education has as yet set no new rate but will probably do so after a study of the facts presented by the teachers and in conjunction with other facts which may come from a study by the teachers committee of the board and resulting recommendation.

No action is expected to be taken at the meeting this evening in relation to the proposed salary schedule increase suggested by the teachers organizations.

The facts presented by the teachers at the meeting which will precede the regular meeting of the board will be given later consideration and it is expected a special meeting of the board of education will be held later this month at which time action on a salary schedule will be given consideration.

fraud. The period would begin at the time the facts constituting the alleged fraud were discovered. There is now no time limit.

The Assembly debate over teenage voting stemmed from a motion by Louis A. Cioffi, Manhattan Democrat, to discharge from committee his proposal for a constitutional amendment to reduce the minimum age.

Four other Democratic attempts to discharge measures from committee were defeated yesterday in straight party votes.

The minority sought floor showdowns in the Assembly on bills that would give state employes a flat 10-per-cent pay increase, would repeal the state's Condon-Wadlin Act forbidding strikes by most public employes and would set up a permanent grievance panel for state workers.

In the Senate Republicans balked a Democratic move for consideration of a bill to authorize public schools to care for children of working mothers outside regular classroom hours.

The "hot sweaters" measure, sponsored by Assemblyman Angela R. Graci, Queens Republican, is similar to a bill vetoed by the governor last year. But Graci said the new proposal was based on federal standards and would overcome Dewey's objection.

The school study commission, proposed by Sen. Earl Brydges, Niagara Falls Republican, would take over the duties of the state commission on school buildings, expiring this month. Members of the new agency would be appointed by the governor.

Introduced by the Senate Rules Committee, the bill involving members of authorities and commissions provides that no public officer or employe would be ineligible for appointment to such governing bodies because he held another post.

Sen. Joseph R. Marro of Manhattan and Assemblyman Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn, minority members of the Joint Legislative Committee on Election Laws, objected to the permanent personal registration proposed by the committee's majority.

They said local option on PRR would mean that "citizens in one part of the state will not have registration conveniences that citizens in other parts will enjoy." The administration's local-option PRR plan has been introduced and is expected to be approved.

Assemblyman Malcolm Wilson of Westchester county proposed the annulment measure. It was sent to the Senate.

guez had confessed. Rodriguez was not seized at the Capitol, but later at a bus station. Rep. Shafer told newsmen, before he testified at the closed grand jury session, that he could identify Rodriguez as one of the quartet who shouted for Puerto Rican independence and blazed away with Luger pistols from a spectators' gallery in the House chamber.

In San Juan, Puerto Rico, Pedro Aldizu Campos, 62, head of the tiny but violent Nationalist Party, hailed the shooting as "sublime heroism."

But Gov. Luis Munoz Marin of the island commonwealth—which has several times voted to reject outright independence from the United States—came to Washington to express his regrets in person. President Eisenhower yesterday told his new conference he was pleased with the gesture.

The Justice Department was reported re-studying FBI reports on the Nationalist party, looking for ways to curb violence by its members, perhaps by having them register as foreign agents. The theory would be they were supported by foreign Communists.

One of the wounded congressmen, George H. Fallon (D-Md.), was told he may be able to go home to Baltimore today. Two others, Ben F. Jensen (R-Iowa) and Clifford Davis (D-Tenn.), were up and about at the Bethesda Naval Hospital. Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) faced about a week more of hospitalization.

The wives of the five victims gave a luncheon yesterday for Mrs. Munoz Marin—to show, they said, they had no hard feelings against Puerto Rico.

The shooting had repercussions last night in Havana and Chicago.

In Havana, Cuban military intelligence officers arrested for questioning Juan Juardes, foreign affairs secretary of the Puerto Rican Nationalist party. They also seized another Nationalist, Carlos Padilla Perez.

Chicago police picked up five Puerto Ricans in a roundup of local Nationalist leaders. Authorities there declined to say what further action they plan to take.

Cement Replaces Copper

Clarkdale, Ariz. (AP)—Clarkdale, once an important copper-smelting town, appeared doomed to die. Then Erle P. Hilliburton of Corpus Christi, Tex., took an option on the old smelter, crushing and transport equipment and the townsite, and said he would establish a cement plant. His plan includes a 120-mile pipeline to deliver cement to a plant at Phoenix for final processing. Halliburton said the propect envisioned a five million dollar investment. Phelps Dodge Corp. stopped smelting operations here in 1950 and in 1953 sold its property to a steel company for scrapping.

Newburgh Bridge Sites for Survey Set by Engineers

Engineers established triangulation stations in Newburgh today for their surveys to determine the exact location of the west approach to the proposed Hudson river bridge between that city and Beacon, a spokesman for the New York State Bridge Authority told The Freeman this afternoon.

The northerly station is at the foot of Commonwealth avenue, where the thoroughfare goes to the water line, near the home of Attorney Edward G. O'Neill.

Southerly station is at the foot of Park Place, near the property of the Newburgh Yacht Club.

The point at which the bridge will join the west shore is between the two stations, some 200 feet north of the Mastic Tile plant in the Balmville section.

Engineers establishing the stations, who are expected to pick two in Beacon tomorrow, are Roland Green, Kingston, in charge of surveys for the bridge authority, Norman Luedtke and Henry Bickert.

Churchill Guarded To Prevent Incident

London, March 4 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill and other members of Parliament got extra police protection in and around the House of Commons today to prevent any incident similar to last Monday's shooting spree by Puerto Rican fanatics in the U. S. House of Representatives.

A Scotland Yard spokesman said special secret instructions were sent to all police in the "A" division of the Metropolitan force, which is responsible for the area surrounding the Houses of Parliament. He said the orders will increase and tighten up normal security precautions in the area. A stricter than ever watch will be kept on people approaching Parliament from busy city areas and parks nearby.

Car Gets Around!

Charlestown, W.Va. (AP) — A woman called police and said her baby blue Cadillac had been stolen. Five minutes later, she called back and said: "The car's not stolen, after all. My husband had it and he just drove up. Thanks, anyway." Fifteen minutes later she phoned again. "It's really stolen this time. It's not outside the house where my husband parked it and he's inside with me." The sergeant resignedly revived the complaint and put out a radio signal. The car was located several hours later in a downtown garage. A wrecker service had towed it away by mistake.

Late Bulletin

A statement delivered by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of this city today on Wiswall's statements before the Moreland Commission investigating harness race tracks follows:

"My attention has been called to testimony of ex-Senator Wiswall today before the Moreland Commission to the effect that Speaker Heck and I sought to induce him when he was secretary of the State Harness Racing Commission to have one Dr. D. W. Way appointed racing steward in place of Dwight H. Pierce. I have no recollection of ever having discussed racing personnel with Wiswall, who hasn't been secretary of the Harness Racing Commission since 1944. Why should anyone discuss such a subject with a secretary, since the only body having authority to make appointments was the commission itself. Apparently Wiswall is resentful of the criticisms which the joint legislative committee on racing, of which I am chairman, have leveled at him for practices he has followed at the Saratoga Raceway. In our 1952 and 1953 committee reports we severely criticized the practice of Wiswall for participating personally as a driver at races conducted at a track of which he is an officer, director and stockholder. We twice officially recommended that the commission adopt a rule precluding that practice. So far no such rule has been adopted. I hope Commissioner Monaghan promptly puts such a rule into effect."

Latins Seek Aid Hint From Dulles

Caracas, Venezuela, March 4 (AP) —Latin American delegates looked to Secretary of State Dulles today for at least a hint whether the United State will lay fresh economic aid on the line for its neighbors south of the Rio Grande.

Almost to a man, they want to hear him tell the 10th Inter-American Conference the United States—which has been concentrating in the post-war years on building up its allies in Europe and Asia—will do more to help Latin America achieve greater economic freedom.

Dulles was expected to take the rostrum for a policy statement this afternoon.

Better credit facilities, more technical assistance, and firm prices for their raw materials are among the things the Latin Americans have asked.

Speedy Approval Seen on Tax Cuts

Washington, March 4 (AP)—Speedy and overwhelming House approval was forecast today for a bill to cut a wide range of excise or sale taxes almost one billion dollars.

But the bill, okayed by the Ways and Means Committee over opposition by the Eisenhower administration, threatened to set off a storm in the Senate over another issue.

Sen. George (D.-Ga.) said today he might move to tack onto the excise tax measure—when it hits the Senate—his controversial proposal to increase individual income tax exemptions and thus lower taxes, particularly for low income families.

The administration argued that the government cannot afford now such broad and sweeping revenue reductions as are provided in the bill to cut to 10 per cent all excise taxes now above that level, except for liquor and tobacco.

Senate Begins Talk On Hawaii Statehood

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Senate signaled for a start of debate today on statehood for Hawaii, with Democrats seeking to tie in Alaska statehood.

Sen. Cordon (R.-Ore.), chairman of the Territories Subcommittee of the Senate Interior Committee, arranged to lead off for administration forces on the measure, passed by the House last year, to make Hawaii the 49th state.

As the bill came up in the Senate, a delegation from Hawaii continued its rounds of senatorial offices seeking to persuade senators to let the Hawaii statehood bill come to a vote on its own merits.

Schwable Is Supported

Washington, March 4 (AP)—A leading psychiatrist said today he could not conceive of anyone who could resist indefinitely the sort of stress to which Communist methods can subject people. Dr. Winfred Oversholser, superintendant of St. Elizabeth's Mental Hospital here, made the statement before the Marine Corps inquiring into the germ warfare confession of Col. Frank H. Schwable. Dr. Oversholser, who is president of the American Society of psychiatry, said when Schwable yielded to Communist pressure and signed a false confession he was "in essence, a man without a will."

Spokesman Says Surpluses Would Be Given Place

Washington, March 4 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration's new farm program would count present big surpluses of cotton, wheat and corn in fashioning future production control programs for these commodities, a spokesman told Congress today.

Only in determining future price support levels under a flexible system would a part of the surpluses be excluded.

These points were made by Under Secretary of Agriculture D. Morse in an analysis of the program prepared for a Senate Agriculture Committee hearing. The session opened the administration's uphill battle to win congressional approval of its farm proposals.

Centers on Provision

The main controversy centers on the provision for a variable price support formula under which price floors for basic crops would be high in times of shortages to encourage production and low in times of surplus to encourage overproduction. This plan would replace a present system of rigid high level supports, which expires at the end of this year unless Congress renews it.

In his message to Congress outlining the program, President Eisenhower said that not all of the present surpluses should be considered as a part of the supply for the purpose of determining support levels because to do so would cut price props sharply next year and not give a new program a chance to get a fair trial.

Eisenhower recommended that upto 2½ billion dollars worth of surplus wheat, cotton, fats and oils, and possibly dairy products, be separated or "frozen" from commercial supplies under the flexible scale.

Morse said today, however, that the frozen stocks should be included in government calculations for determining acreage planting allotments and marketing quotas —devices provided by law to cut back production when surpluses develop.

recollection I have never talked to Wiswall about the appointment of anybody."

Wicks said "I had nothing to say about Dr. Way's appointment," adding that Dr. Way has been appointed a steward many years before creation of a Wicks Committee in 1951 which investigated flat and harness racing in the state.

Wicks claimed Wiswall had not been secretary of the harness racing commission since 1944.

Commission Counsel George Trosk asked if anyone had ever asked Wiswall about appointing "any particular person as a horse race judge?"

"Speaker of the Assembly—Mr. Heck," replied Wiswall.

Wiswall said Heck called him on the telephone and that "I told him Commissioner (Ben) Downing had taken a position against this person and wouldn't appoint him."

"They didn't," Wiswall added.

Says Steingut Talked

This line of testimony came out after the tall, stocky Wiswall had been asked by Trosk if anyone in political office ever had discussed harness racing commission affairs with him.

"Nothing I can recall," Wiswall replied at first.

After hesitating a minute, he added:

"Yes, I think Mr. Steingut talked to me several times about the license at Batavia, as I remember, where the Genesee-Monroe Racing Assn. operated.

Wiswall said he recalled "there was some controversy between Genesee, Monroe and Hamburg as to racing dates."

He said Steingut probably discussed that situation with him "and may have talked about others, I do not recollect exactly."

Wiswall said he thought Provenzano "talked to me about Batavia, too."

Wiswall Made $380,000

Wiswall said he has received a total of $380,000 in salary since he became president of Saratoga in 1945. He said his salary is generally $30,000 a year, plus a $10,000 bonus.

He said he lives in Saratoga Springs and has law offices there and in Albany.

Wiswall said he now owns 1,220 shares in Saratoga, and his wife and children 3,000 more. He said he paid $1,000 for all of them.

The commission earlier had heard a Mineola, N. Y., banker testify harness track stock he bought for $21,000 now is worth about $1,250,000.

New York, March 4 (AP)—A Mineola bank president said today old Country Trotting Assn. stock he bought for about $21,000 is now worth $1,250,000.

J. Alfred Valentine, president of the First National Bank of Mineola, said he bought the stock between 1940 and 1945.

His harness racing connections also bring him $80,000 a year in salaries.

His testimony before a Moreland Act Commission probing alleged harness track scandals brought out he was the largest single stockholder in the association, which owns Roosevelt Raceway.

Valentine said he has more than 46,500 shares. He is the association's executive vice president, and receives $35,000 a year as its general manager. He also gets $25,000 a year as president of Algam Corp., owner of the Yonkers Raceway plant, and $20,000 a year as operational executive for the Nassau County Trotting Assn., which races at Roosevelt.

Valentine also is a director of Algam, and a director in Yonkers Racing Assn., which operates the Yonkers track. Valentine said he bought 200 shares in the Yonkers Trotting Assn., in 1950 for $20,000.

He and his family, he said, also own 2,000 shares in Nassau Trotting Assn.

Owns Maywood Stock

In addition, he said he owns "a small block" of stock in the Maywood track near Chicago.

Nassau's general manager, James J. Dowling, had told the commission earlier he received about $120,000 in salary last year. Valentine said he would "like to see Nassau" continue to hold its race meetings at Roosevelt raceway.

Dowling had said he favored a third trotting track in the New York city area, indicating Nassau would like to build its own plant.

Dowling said he owns 14,300 shares of Nassau stock worth about $200,000, and 250 shares of Yonkers Trotting Assn. He said his son owns 2,000 shares in Nassau.

Dowling said his salary varies as it is based upon a percentage of the pari-mutuel betting receipts.

Bought for Sprague's Daughter

The commission yesterday heard George Morton Levy, counsel for Roosevelt Raceway, testify that stock he bought in 1946 for a daughter of former GOP National Committeeman J. Russel Sprague, was sold last fall for $150,000. That stock was in the Nassau Assn.

Nassau holds its meeting at Roosevelt Raceway, owned by the Old Country Trotting Assn. The other harness track in the New York city area is at Yonkers.

The sole witness yesterday at the Moreland Act Commission's open hearings probing the state's trotting tracks, Levy testified he bought Nassau Trotting Assn. stock in 1946 for Mary Maude Sprague Adams.

Levy said he bought 2,500 shares at $1 per share, and listed it in his name "to avoid complications, so that people wouldn't think Sprague owned the stock."

The witness said that Mrs. Adams' husband, Boris, became ill after war service and was under medical treatment and that "they" wanted to make sure of a future income.

Mrs. Adams sold the stock, Levy said, "either after or just before the appointment of this commission."

Sold 40 Per Cent

In 1946, Sprague himself sold 40 per cent of the stock he held in the Cedar Point Trotting Assn., which was liquidated in favor of the Nassau Assn.

Levy said he reported to the U. S. Trotting Assn. that he held the stock for Mrs. Adams.

Sprague stepped down last November as New York state Republican national committeeman after disclosure of his family's financial interests in the harness racing industry.

Sprague has been subpoenaed to testify in the hearings, which resume at 10 a. m. today.

Levy identified another "hidden owner" of racetrack shares as Mrs. Benjamin W. Downing, widow of the former chairman of the New York State Harness Racing Commission. In 1946, while her late husband was supervising the tracks, Levy said, he bought 250 shares of Nassau stock for her, for $250. Levy said Mrs. Downing became the "open owner" of the stock after her husband died. The shares' present value is about $12,000.

Is Dewey Intimate

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, who appointed the special commission to investigate harness racing, is a long-time political intimate of Sprague.

Levy also told of stock transactions with William De Koning Sr., Nassau county labor boss currently under indictment for allegedly extorting money from workers at Roosevelt Raceway.

Levy said he sold $5,000 worth of shares in Old Country to De Koning in 1942, when the Long Island track was two years old and struggling for survival.

In his testimony, Levy said he got political help when he needed state laws favorable to Roosevelt Raceway.

Names Politicians

While not evaluating the aid, if any, he got from high-ranking politicians, Levy mentioned contacts with the following:

Sprague; George R. Fearon, former state senator and GOP Senate majority leader in 1931-1932; John J. Dunningan, Democrat, another former state senator who succeeded Fearon as majority leader; and Norman Penny, vice chairman of the Nassau county GOP committee and a former state assemblyman.

The name of the late Irwin Steingut, Democratic minority leader of the Assembly, also cropped up in Levy's testimony.

When Nassau county was trying to have a bill passed in 1946 that would have given the county two per cent of Old Country's pari-mutuel gambling profits, Levy said, he went to see Steingut in Albany to ask him to oppose the bill.

Whether or not Steingut heeded his request, Levy did not say, but the bill did not pass.

Subsequently, Levy said, he obtained 500 shares of stock in the Goshen Mile track Assn. for Mrs. Jeanne Weiss, Steingut's daughter. The Goshen Assn. now races at Yonkers under the name of the Yonkers Trotting Assn.

Levy said Mrs. Weiss' stock cost her $250. In 1950, he said, the stock's value was $45,000.

January Savings Almost Hit Record

Savings volume in New York's 237 savings association came to near-record proportions in January, David Ford, president of the Savings Association League of New York State, announced today.

"Our institutions accepted $100,632,755 in new savings last month," Mr. Ford said. "It was the second best month in the entire history of our New York State savings associations."

The League official observed that while savers withdrew $84,390,275 of their funds in January, a net gain of $16,242,480 was recorded.

"Total savings in these thrift and home financing institutions now stand at $1,924,876,999." Ford said.

The net gain in savings for the twelve-month period ending January 31 amounted to $245,610,474, Ford said, as compared with an increase of $238,807,422 during the same period a year before. "This represents an annual rate of gain of 14.6 per cent—exactly two percentage points under the rate of gain for the 12-month period ended January 31, 1953."

Shokan

Shokan, March 3—Mr. and Mrs. John Kacinski of New York were recent guests at the Longyear House on the old state road. John, accompanied by Elmer Howland, did some rabbit hunting while in Shokan.

William Churchill, Kingston young man, was a business caller in the village center Thursday. Bill is a former resident of Pennsylvania.

Delta Boice Fromer, Kingston, a native of the reservoir country, is visiting Charlotte, N. C.

George Kelder, former Shokan resident who for the past two years has made his home in the spillway section of Hurley, was a caller here Thursday.

Birthdays falling Saturday, March 6, include that of Agnes Wohlfit Clarke who was born in New York and came to this section about 10 years ago. Mrs. Clarke, who has been employed in Phoenicia several years, has a number of friends in Shokan where she is a frequent visitor at the home of her sister, Mrs. Harry Weeks.

Harold Carlson, a member of the freshman class at New York University, spent the weekend with his mother, Mrs. Theodore Carlson, of VanSteenburgh Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Richards and son Paul of New York drove here Sunday for a winter time inspection of their summer home in the village center.

Harold Stoutenburgh and Frank Kellerhouse of West Hurley were callers here Monday.

Although the open season on beavers is approaching, it is not anticipated there will be any great rush on the part of trappers to annex the makings of a beaver hat. The small colony of these smart animals still inhabit Temple's Pond, just over the town line in Hurley, and their ingeniously contrived hut of sticks remains in plain sight of the nearby Onteora Trail. Beavers have also been reported building and repairing their dam at the Raymond Davis swamp along The Vly road at Krumville.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rich and small daughter will soon move from the M. Farrell bungalow in the village center to Long Island where Sam has secured a position. Mrs. Rich is the former Joan Farrell. Sam since coming to Shokan two weeks ago has been employed as a welder at Island Dock and at a Poughkeepsie plant.

Callers here from Woodstock Monday report the new schoolhouse in the neighboring village so overcrowded that they are arranging to send their children to the big Onteora school at Boiceville.

Arthur Rubin, south Olive writer who has the former Jules Breuchaud place along the Samsonville road is spending several weeks in the Cleveland, O., area. Rubin specializes on educational and philosophical books.

Thrift Starts at Home

Hartford, Conn. (AP)—A year ago Mrs. Martin W. Lidstone was selected to represent the State Savings Bank and present a $5 savings account to a newborn child. Annually Hartford's mutual savings banks conduct Thrift Week and the banks take turns daily in presenting $5 accounts to new citizens. This year Mrs. Lidstone, new accounts teller at State Savings Bank, gave birth to son, Neil, at Hartford hospital. She was presented the $5 account for Neil by the rival Mechanics Savings Bank. Neil arrived in the middle of Thrift Week but too late to receive the $5 from his mother's place of employment.

Thrift Starts at Home

Hartford, Conn. (AP)—A year ago Mrs. Martin W. Lidstone was selected to represent the State Savings Bank and present a $5 savings account to a newborn child. Annually Hartford's mutual savings banks conduct Thrift Week and the banks take turns daily in presenting $5 accounts to new citizens. This year Mrs. Lidstone, new accounts teller at State Savings Bank, gave birth to son, Neil, at Hartford hospital. She was presented the $5 account for Neil by the rival Mechanics Savings Bank. Neil arrived in the middle of Thrift Week but too late to receive the $5 from his mother's place of employment.

Heart Fund Raises $4,918 in Campaign

Contributions totaling $4,918.74 have been made to date for the 1954 Heart Fund, it was announced today by Abram F. Molyneaux, fund chairman, who, on behalf of the Ulster County Heart Chapter, expressed thanks to the entire community for support given the heart program.

The 1954 amount compares favorably with that raised for this day last year, Molyneaux said, and represents about 70 per cent of the goal set for the county as its proportionate share of the 1954 campaign of the American Heart Association and its affiliates. With many volunteer workers yet to report and with a number of contributions yet to come in through the mail, the committee is sure that it will attain its goal.

He added:

"The Ulster County Heart Chapter expresses its sincere gratitude to the people of Ulster county who contributed so generously to the heart program in both money and time.

"Especially are we indebted to the chairmen of the township committees and those in the ctiy who are doing so much volunteer work. We are thankful to the merchants and others who displayed our heart-shaped coin receptacles and we are especially appreciative to the press, radio, movie theatres and others for their support and publicity.

"This has been an inspiring demonstration of faith and confidence. Every contribution, large or small, has been an expression of hope on someone's part that heart diseases can be conquered. I feel we have done our part toward the attainment of this goal."

Delay Is Asked

Albany, March 4 (AP)—The state motor vehicle commissioner has been asked to delay until fall the start of the non-fix traffic ticket policy approved by the Legislature last year. R. W. Morris of Syracuse, executive secretary of the State Association of Police Chiefs, made the request yesterday, stating that police chiefs needed more time to pepare for administration of the program. The system is scheduled to go into effect July 1. Forty police and court representatives who attended a hearing yesterday before Commissioner James R. Macduff suggested that the new ticket be a comprehensive device showing such things as road conditions and weather.

Man Found Innocent

Ferndale, Md., March 4 (AP)—Lycester E. Cavey, 21-year-old tank truck driver, was found innocent of manslaughter yesterday in the highway deaths of a New York couple. The crash orphaned the three children of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Backof, of Flushing, N. Y., who with their children, Gladys, 16, Morton, 6, and Ellen, 5, were returning from a Florida vacation. Cavey was fined $200 and costs for reckless driving and given a suspended sentence of a year in the house of correction. The Backof children were asleep in the rear seat of the car at the time of the crash and escaped serious injury.

Trinity Title Confirmed

New York (AP) — It may now at last be said that Trinity Church, which has occupied a site in lower Manhattan's financial disrict for about 300 years, has a right to be there. A legal suit, brought on behalf of Dorothy McClatchie and claiming ownership of the property through a 1642 grant to her ancestors, was recently thrown out of court — partly because of "the passage of time."

Increase Is Noted

a year ago it was about 1,280.

Unemployment in seasonal industries accounted for nearly 70 per cent of the total jobless insurance payments last month.

Seasonal unemployment this winter is at its highest level locally since the winter of 1949-50, records show. In February, 1950, the average weekly unemployment insurance load for Ulster county was 2,088.

Part Due to Construction

Some local observers have attributed a part of the increase in unemployment figures locally to construction workers who came to the area last spring when thruway and other construction projects were hiring large numbers of men, and who are remaining here and collecting unemployment insurance while waiting for resumption of construction projects this spring. This theory, however, could not be positively substantiated from employment office records since most of these workers would have established local addresses by now.

Original Claims Decline

Original claims, from newly unemployed workers, declined from an average of 225 per week in January to 104 in February of this year.

Anthony C. Hart, manager of the local office, pointed out that of the total benefit payments made, an average of 235 were to part-time and intermittent workers.

The employment office staff placed a total of 295 persons in non-agricultural jobs during February. The total included 167 women and 128 men. There were 59 veteran placements.

The increase in unemployment insurance payments was sharper at the Ellenville brance office, going from 248 in January to 341 in February.

In addition to the benefit totals, there were payments of Federal unemployment compensation to 15 veterans in Kingston and two in Ellenville.

A monthly survey by the Division of Placement and Unemployment Insurance in February indicated that male recipients outnumbered females by more than three to one.

In Seasonal Industries

The bulk of the unemployment occurred in seasonal industries, accounting for nearly 70 per cent of the total. Building and construction work accounted for 28 per cent of the totals; apparel and related industry, 12 per cent; stone and clay products, 13 per cent; transportation and resort work, eight per cent each.

The balance of the unemployment claimants was composed of a scattering from all industries with metal products, accounting for 14 per cent of the total, predominating.

A total of 386 new applications for placement were filed with the local office in February, placing the "active file" of job seekers at the end of the month at 1,255. The "active file" for placement purposes does not coincide with the number of unemployment benefits paid because the latter figure includes many temporarily unemployed who are assured of returning to old jobs after seasonal lulls and who are not seeking other unemployment.

man of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said in a separate interview the chairmen never did stick to the subject at issue. Instead, he said, they devoted about half their time to discussing bills their committees were handling.

"I assume the committees will continue to make their own rules," Carlson said. "No policy committee is authorized to tell them what to do."

Ferguson never did make fully clear to reporters just what his objective was in calling the meeting with the chairmen. Asked to describe "the end you have in view" he replied:

"Rules and regulations for committee meetings."

Umbrella Mystery Solved

Tucson, Ariz. (AP) — Kathryn Suedkamp has spent all four years of her life in this desert region where rain is a rarity. When a cousin from Cincinnati dropped in to visit on a cloudy day she was carrying an umbrella. "What's that thing?" asked Kathryn. She demanded and got an explanation and a demonstration. She pondered a while and asked, "Would you show me how that machine works again?"

Jenner Says Move

man of the Post Office and Civil Service Committee, said in a separate interview the chairmen never did stick to the subject at issue. Instead, he said, they devoted about half their time to discussing bills their committees were handling.

"I assume the committees will continue to make their own rules," Carlson said. "No policy committee is authorized to tell them what to do."

Ferguson never did make fully clear to reporters just what his objective was in calling the meeting with the chairmen. Asked to describe "the end you have in view" he replied:

"Rules and regulations for committee meetings."

Knows Dairy Industry

Dr. DeGraff, reared on a general farm in Orleans county, western New York state, was engaged as guest speaker because of his familiarity with problems of the dairy farmer and the dairy industry, the press release said.

It was pointed out that on July 1, 1951, he became the first holder of the newly-endowed H. E. Babcock professorship of food economics in the school of nutrition at Cornell, a post he still holds.

Dr. DeGraff attended the International Conference of Agricultural Economists in England in 1947 with a travel fellowship from Cornell. In 1949, while on sabbatic leave from the university, he studied rural economic conditions in Mexico on a special fellowship from the Rockefeller Foundation.

Women to Explain Agency

Miss Caroline Velten, principal of Cornwall-on-Hudson High School, and Miss Amelia Dowd, assistant district supervising nurse, will participate in the program, telling what the dairy council of the mid-Hudson area means to them as a community resource agency.

Members of the board of directors, besides those mentioned from this area are: Dutchess county — Clifford Baright, secretary; Alson Fitchett, treasurer; Alton Wright and Ray Hammer. Newburgh — Edmund Petelinz, vice president; Morris Yates, Charles Slater and Albert Grimm.

Kitchen Tricks With Cellophane

For years, glistening cellophane has been keeping foods fresh for your table. Since its invention in 1908 by Jacques E. Brandenberger, a French textile chemist, cellophane has been used in the commercial packaging of thousands of familiar products.

Now it enters your kitchen in a brand new way — it's available in a handy household roll, designed to make your kitchen work easier and pleasanter. For example, when you're concocting your family's luscious chocolate cake, place a piece of crystal-clear Sylvania cellophane over the open pages of your recipe book. The book will stay clean and readable, free from messy spots and stains. Cover your recipe file cards with cellophane and tape in place. Then, when you are through cooking, just wipe them off and return to the file.

Try cellophane for lining cake pans, sifting flour, as a tray cover, or a greaseproof wall protector. It's ideal, too, for lining shelves, drawers and boxes, including your bread box, and even your garbage can. Covers fashioned from your handy household roll of Sylvania cellophane will keep your appliances clean and sparkling, free from dust and dirt.

Whether or not there's a freezer in your home, you can keep a supply of pie crust right on hand ...all ready for the oven, and face any dessert-time crisis with a relaxed smile.

Orange, Mass. (AP)—A Universalist parish which has had no church or formal religious services for nearly 18 years observed the 25th anniversary recently of its monthly vespers. The parish once had members in the towns of Dana and North Dana, Mass. These communities were wiped out when a huge reservoir supplying the Boston area was completed in 1936. Dana vespers had become a tradition by then, and they still are being held. Forty members of the original church membership are among the 141 who form the parish today. Money from a trust fund provides for 12 services every year and usually enough for a "bonus" offering annually.

Corned Beef and Cabbages Make Fine St. Patrick's Dish

CORNED BEEF AND "LITTLE CABBAGES" makes a fine St. Patrick's Day dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking ahead to March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, it's time to talk corned beef.

Here are good ideas on that subject we learned in Chicago last week. One of the food experts we met suggested a platter of corned beef and "little cabbages" (Brussels sprouts) for St. Patrick's Day dinner. With it goes a creamy mustard and horseradish sauce.

Corned beef varies according to quality of the meat, and the method of curing. For the first time, corned beef is now being sold in family sized packages of 2 to 4 pounds. They are branded so you can make certain every purchase is the same quality and cure your family prefers. If time is short and your family small, your market offers fine quality corned beef in 12-ounce cans.

You'll find the new packaged briskets carry complete cooking instruction on the wrapper. Corned beef is easy to prepare, but make certain you give it plenty of time to cook slowly in water to cover. Allow approximately an hour per pound, making certain the water is at the simmering, not boiling, temperature. If you wish, you may add the cabbage during the last 15 minutes of cooking.

Another expert suggested a "dress-up" version of corned beef. After water cooking, remove the brisket from the broth and cut the fat covering into diagonals to form diamond shapes, as you would a ham. Spread with prepared mustard and sprinkle lightly with sifted brown sugar. Stick a whole clove into the center of each diamond and place the brisket in a shallow pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. While the meat is glazing to a golden perfection, cook the fresh or frozen Brussels sprouts or cabbage in the meat broth.

Horseradish Mustard Sauce
(Yield: 1½ cups)

One cup thin cream, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon mustard, ½ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon grated horseradish.

Combine cream, egg, sugar, salt, flour and mustard. Beat to blend thoroughly. Stir and heat in saucepan until sauce is smooth and thick. Stir in lemon juice and horseradish. Serve hot or cold. Note: Cooking time about 8 minutes.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER: Glazed corned beef, horseradish mustard sauce, buttered Brussels sprouts, parsleyed buttered potatoes, rye bread, butter or margarine, carrot sticks, assorted relishes, pistachio nut ice cream, tea, coffee, milk.

Corned Beef and Cabbages Make Fine St. Patrick's Dish

CORNED BEEF AND "LITTLE CABBAGES" makes a fine St. Patrick's Day dinner.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Looking ahead to March 17th, St. Patrick's Day, it's time to talk corned beef.

Here are good ideas on that subject we learned in Chicago last week. One of the food experts we met suggested a platter of corned beef and "little cabbages" (Brussels sprouts) for St. Patrick's Day dinner. With it goes a creamy mustard and horseradish sauce.

Corned beef varies according to quality of the meat, and the method of curing. For the first time, corned beef is now being sold in family sized packages of 2 to 4 pounds. They are branded so you can make certain every purchase is the same quality and cure your family prefers. If time is short and your family small, your market offers fine quality corned beef in 12-ounce cans.

You'll find the new packaged briskets carry complete cooking instruction on the wrapper. Corned beef is easy to prepare, but make certain you give it plenty of time to cook slowly in water to cover. Allow approximately an hour per pound, making certain the water is at the simmering, not boiling, temperature. If you wish, you may add the cabbage during the last 15 minutes of cooking.

Another expert suggested a "dress-up" version of corned beef. After water cooking, remove the brisket from the broth and cut the fat covering into diagonals to form diamond shapes, as you would a ham. Spread with prepared mustard and sprinkle lightly with sifted brown sugar. Stick a whole clove into the center of each diamond and place the brisket in a shallow pan. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 20 minutes. While the meat is glazing to a golden perfection, cook the fresh or frozen Brussels sprouts or cabbage in the meat broth.

Horseradish Mustard Sauce
(Yield: 1½ cups)

One cup thin cream, 1 egg, slightly beaten, ¼ cup sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 tablespoon mustard, ½ cup lemon juice, 1 tablespoon grated horseradish.

Combine cream, egg, sugar, salt, flour and mustard. Beat to blend thoroughly. Stir and heat in saucepan until sauce is smooth and thick. Stir in lemon juice and horseradish. Serve hot or cold. Note: Cooking time about 8 minutes.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY DINNER: Glazed corned beef, horseradish mustard sauce, buttered Brussels sprouts, parsleyed buttered potatoes, rye bread, butter or margarine, carrot sticks, assorted relishes, pistachio nut ice cream, tea, coffee, milk.

McGrath to Open Dentistry Office

STEPHEN T. McGRATH

Stephen T. McGrath, D.M.D., will open offices for the general practice of dentistry at 41 Pearl street on Monday in the offices formerly occupied by Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Jr., prior to his reentering the U. S. Navy.

Dr. McGrath, a former resident of Lynbrook, Long Island, served 12 years in the United States Navy and at the time of his resignation held the rank of Commander. With the Navy Dental Corps he served as oral surgeon with the Fourth Marine Division and saw service at Sipan, Tinian, Iwo Jima, the Marshalls and in other Pacific outposts.

Wounded Three Tims

Dr. McGrath was wounded three times during his service and has been awarded the Purple Heart and various other decorations including the Presidential citation, Navy Unit Citation and bronze star. He also served on the staff of the National Naval Medical Center, did post-graduate work in maxillo facial posthesis and surgery, under instruction and in a teaching capacity, and he was in charge of Oral Surgery on the staff of the Eastern Seafront Frontiers, stationed at Quonset Point, R. I. He was also commissioning senior dental officer aboard the U.S.S. North Hampton, an experimental anti-atomic ship which served as an experimental task fleet command ship.

Attended Prep School

Dr. McGrath attended Chaminade Prep School at Mineola, L. I., is a graduate of Harvard College and in 1941 was graduated from the Harvard School of Dentistry from which he received his degree and served a residency at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York city. He is a son of Stephen W. McGrath, New York city dentist with offices in Rockefeller Center.

He is married to Clara Michelini, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Armand Michelini of Utica, N. Y., and they have three children, Stephen A. 6, who attends St. Joseph's School; David age 2½ and Lisa, age one. Dr. and Mrs. McGrath are making their home at 56 Valentine avenue.

Dr. McGrath has installed the latest type dental apparatus and fixtures in his offices which will include a large reception room, business office, laboratory and operating room.

DeGroat Is Burned

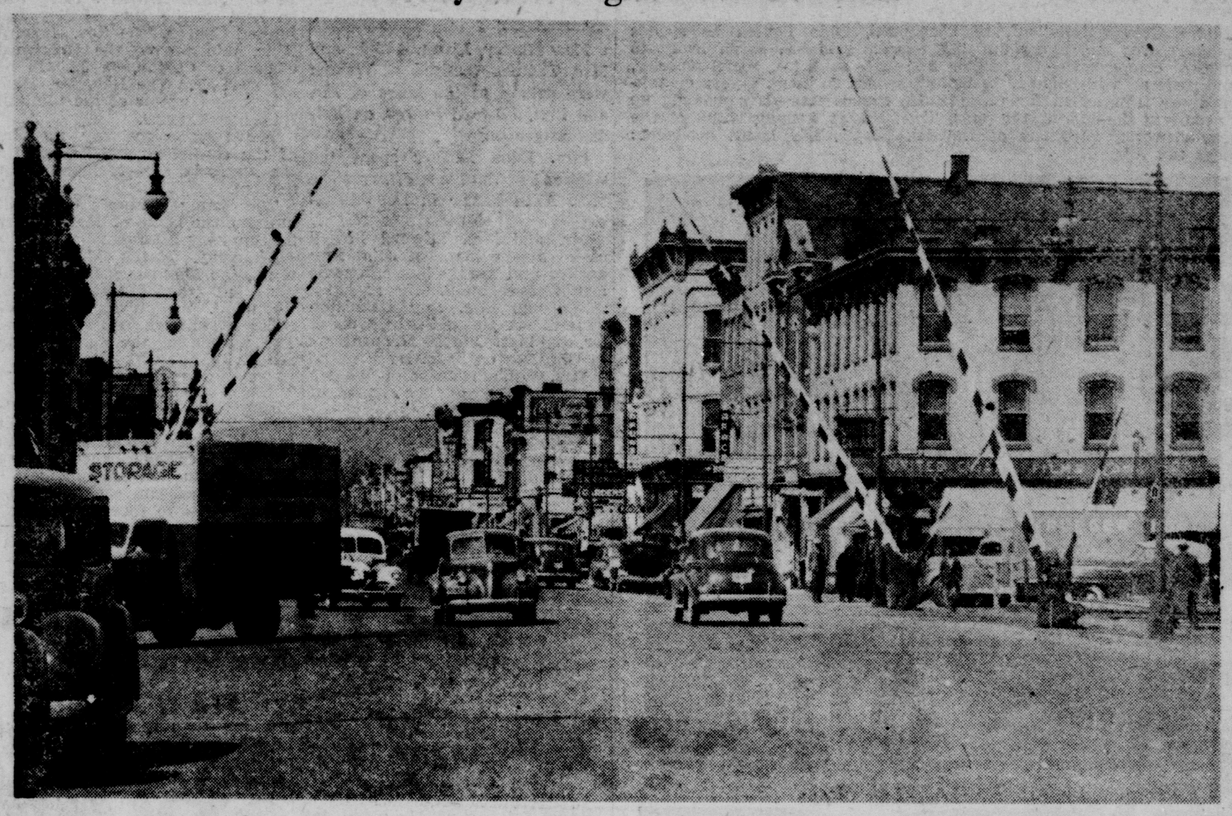
Alfred DeGroat, an employe of Bernie Singer's store, 71-73 North Front street, suffered burns on the right hand in his attempt to check a fire which started in a can of rubber solvent in the tire shop at the rear of the store yesterday afternoon. Firemen were called at 4:35 p. m., and reported that the fire had been checked by Police Commissioner William Singer before their arrival. Flames from the burning can of rubber solvent caught to the door frame when it was thrown out of the building. Damage was not serious.

Hearing Adjourned

Albany, March 4 (AP)—The Public Service Commission today adjourned until March 15 its hearing on the New York Telephone Co.'s bid for a 10 per cent rate boost. The only testimony today was a review of previous testimony.

The first type of fire-fighting equipment were mammoth syringes, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Broadway Crossing Before and After



New Underpass Reflects Kingston Progress

Central Part of Kingston Expects Era of Prosperity

(Kingston is at the hub of a rising Mid-Hudson business and industrial "Golden Grid." Speculation is rife and rumors are flying. Real estate is jittery. Central Kingston is sharing mightily in the new development. Recent growth and change in the central section is discussed in a series of four articles beginning today).

BY JOHN A. CRAWFORD, JR.

Central Kingston, down underneath, is plenty hot right now. It's fairly sizzling.

Scratch a little beneath the surface and you find a kind of restlessness, a buoyancy and optimism — not unmixed with anxiety, however.

The section has grown mightily in the past five or 10 years and, by the way the wind is blowing, should continue to prosper in the years ahead.

Speculation Rife

Speculation is rife and rumors are flying. Real estate is jittery.

The reasons are legion. Not the least is the coming of new industry—IBM, for example.

Within the past year the Chamber of Commerce received at least 50 inquiries about the area from industrial firms. It is also reported that other agencies in the community receive similar inquiries.

Central Broadway business leaders point out that in recent years practically all large commercial construction, except the new Grand Union store on Albany avenue, has been in the central area.

Millions Are Spent

Construction and renovations worth millions of dollars have been completed in the central area within the past 10 years—most of it in the last five.

What prospers the Mid-Hudson area and the city of Kingston will, of course, prosper the central section of the city.

Focal in the booming Mid-Hudson—the so-called "Golden Grid," as Edwin T. Strong, district manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., has so aptly described it—will be the proposed trans-Hudson bridges, area rail and river transportation and the magnificent Dewey-sired autobahn, the Thruway, with its curving interchanges—a siren song to business and industry of crowded metropolitan New York.

According to Strong, if Long Island, which can hardly support further industrial development, were picked up bodily and placed on the Mid-Hudson area it might give us some idea of what the area industrial picture could be within the foreseeable future.

Van Winkle Must Shave

The "suburban" industrial movement can be expected to accelerate, it is believed. The land of Rip Van Winkle will have to shave its beard—and there will be "growing pains."

The New York State Thruway will swoop past the northern and western fringes of the city, and south, spanning the Wallkill river near Tillson, not a stone's throw from the Perrine covered bridge, built of wood, closed now for 20 years—a contrast pointing up vividly a century of progress in the Mid-Hudson area.

Several major housing projects are in the planning stage, it is reported with others contemplated.

The probability of industrial expansion is also supported, it is pointed out, by a favorable labor supply.

Located in the central area are many public buildings, the city hall, the library, municipal auditorium, high school and junior high, Central Fire Station, main post office building, Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals, Adirondack Trailways and Greyhound terminals, New York Central railroad passenger station and freight depot, Electrol, the New York Telephone Company, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., Sprague Electric, paper box manufacturers, a number of garment factories and other industrial plants and business firms.

The proposed arterial spur which will by-pass the uptown business district is listed by central Kingston business leaders as another factor pointing to development of the central section of the city. Many see a considerable residential expansion in the northern environs of the city not too far from the arterial interchange. Many of these residents will take the interchange into the city as they drive to work, it is believed, entering Broadway at St. James street and proceeding thence through the central Kingston area. Some think this will encourage a trend toward mid-Kingston shopping and banking among residents of the fringe areas north of the city.

Bequests Are Made

The Workmen's Circle, Branch No. 125 of Kingston, which recently celebrated its 46th anniversary with a dinner, distributed a number of charity bequests. The Circle contributed to the cancer fund in Kingston, to the cerebral palsy fund of Kingston and to the Children's Home. The Kingston lodge is one of more than one thousand throughout the United States and Canada as a fraternal organization which also cares for the education and cultural needs of its members. A drive for clothing for South Koreans has been started by the members.

Hand fans made of palm leaves were used by the early Assyrians and Egyptians.

Young to File Suit

New York, March 4 (AP)—Robert R. Young announced today that he is filing suit against all 15 directors of the New York Central Railroad asking an injunction against their expenditure of "any monies of the New York Central Railroad Company for the purpose of continuing themselves in office." The suit is being brought in the New York State Supreme Court as a stockholder's action on behalf of Young, his associate Allan P. Kirby, and "all other stockholders of the New York Central Railroad Company similarly situated."

Man Is Killed

Schenectady, March 4 (AP) — A test turbine flew apart in a building at the vast General Electric Co. plant early today, killing one man and injuring several others. Parts of the huge machine shot through the roof and crashed into an adjoining building, workers at the scene said. GE said it would identify the dead man, a test engineeer, after his next of kin had been notified. The engineer was reported to have been working atop the turbine when it flew apart.

A veal stew is delicious when it is made with yellow turnip and onion. Serve the stew with brown rice.

STEPHEN T. McGRATH

Stephen T. McGrath, D.M.D., will open offices for the general practice of dentistry at 41 Pearl street on Monday in the offices formerly occupied by Dr. Frederic Holcomb, Jr., prior to his re-entering the U. S. Navy.

Dr. McGrath, a former resident of Lynbrook, Long Island, served 12 years in the United States Navy and at the time of his resignation held the rank of Commander. With the Navy Dental Corps he served as oral surgeon with the Fourth Marine Division and saw service at Sipan, Tinian, Iwo Jima, the Marshalls and in other Pacific outposts.

Wounded Three Tims

Dr. McGrath was wounded three times during his service and has been awarded the Purple Heart and various other decorations including the Presidential citation, Navy Unit Citation and bronze star. He also served on the staff of the National Naval Medical Center, did post-graduate work in maxillo facial posthesis and surgery, under instruction and in a teaching capacity, and he was in charge of Oral Surgery on the staff of the Eastern Seafront Frontiers, stationed at Quonset Point, R. I. He was also commissioning senior dental officer aboard the U.S.S. North Hampton, an experimental anti-atomic ship which served as an experimental task fleet command ship.

Attended Prep School

Dr. McGrath attended Chaminade Prep School at Mineola, L. I., is a graduate of Harvard College and in 1941 was graduated from the Harvard School of Dentistry from which he received his degree and served a residency at Lenox Hill Hospital in New York city. He is a son of Stephen W. McGrath, New York city dentist with offices in Rockefeller Center.

He is married to Clara Michelini, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Armand Michelini of Utica, N. Y., and they have three children, Stephen A. 6, who attends St. Joseph's School; David age 2½ and Lisa, age one. Dr. and Mrs. McGrath are making their home at 56 Valentine avenue.

Dr. McGrath has installed the latest type dental apparatus and fixtures in his offices which will include a large reception room, business office, laboratory and operating room.

DeGroat Is Burned

Alfred DeGroat, an employe of Bernie Singer's store, 71-73 North Front street, suffered burns on the right hand in his attempt to check a fire which started in a can of rubber solvent in the tire shop at the rear of the store yesterday afternoon. Firemen were called at 4:35 p. m., and reported that the fire had been checked by Police Commissioner William Singer before their arrival. Flames from the burning can of rubber solvent caught to the door frame when it was thrown out of the building. Damage was not serious.

Broadway Crossing Before and After

Central Part of Kingston Expects Era of Prosperity

(Kingston is at the hub of a rising Mid-Hudson business and industrial "Golden Grid." Speculation is rife and rumors are flying. Real estate is jittery. Central Kingston is sharing mightily in the new development. Recent growth and change in the central section is discussed in a series of four articles beginning today).

BY JOHN A. CRAWFORD, JR.

Central Kingston, down underneath, is plenty hot right now. It's fairly sizzling.

Scratch a little beneath the surface and you find a kind of restlessness, a buoyancy and optimism — not unmixed with anxiety, however.

The section has grown mightily in the past five or 10 years and, by the way the wind is blowing, should continue to prosper in the years ahead.

Speculation Rife

Speculation is rife and rumors are flying. Real estate is jittery.

The reasons are legion. Not the least is the coming of new industry—IBM, for example.

Within the past year the Chamber of Commerce received at least 50 inquiries about the area from industrial firms. It is also reported that other agencies in the community receive similar inquiries.

Central Broadway business leaders point out that in recent years practically all large commercial construction, except the new Grand Union store on Albany avenue, has been in the central area.

Millions Are Spent

Construction and renovations worth millions of dollars have been completed in the central area within the past 10 years—most of it in the last five.

What prospers the Mid-Hudson area and the city of Kingston will, of course, prosper the central section of the city.

Focal in the booming Mid-Hudson—the so-called "Golden Grid," as Edwin T. Strong, district manager of Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., has so aptly described it—will be the proposed trans-Hudson bridges, area rail and river transportation and the magnificent Dewey-sired autobahn, the Thruway, with its curving interchanges—a siren song to business and industry of crowded metropolitan New York.

According to Strong, if Long Island, which can hardly support further industrial development, were picked up bodily and placed on the Mid-Hudson area it might give us some idea of what the area industrial picture could be within the foreseeable future.

Van Winkle Must Shave

The "suburban" industrial movement can be expected to accelerate, it is believed. The land of Rip Van Winkle will have to shave its beard—and there will be "growing pains."

The New York State Thruway will swoop past the northern and western fringes of the city, and south, spanning the Wallkill river near Tillson, not a stone's throw from the Perrine covered bridge, built of wood, closed now for 20 years—a contrast pointing up vividly a century of progress in the Mid-Hudson area.

Several major housing projects are in the planning stage, it is reported with others contemplated. The probability of industrial expansion is also supported, it is pointed out, by a favorable labor supply.

Located in the central area are many public buildings, the city hall, the library, municipal auditorium, high school and junior high, Central Fire Station, main post office building, Kingston and Benedictine Hospitals, Adirondack Trailways and Greyhound terminals, New York Central railroad passenger station and freight depot, Electrol, the New York Telephone Company, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp., Sprague Electric, paper box manufacturers, a number of garment factories and other industrial plants and business firms.

The proposed arterial spur which will by-pass the uptown business district is listed by central Kingston business leaders as another factor pointing to development of the central section of the city. Many see a considerable residential expansion in the northern environs of the city not too far from the arterial interchange. Many of these residents will take the interchange into the city as they drive to work, it is believed, entering Broadway at St. James street and proceeding thence through the central Kingston area. Some think this will encourage a trend toward mid-Kingston shopping and banking among residents of the fringe areas north of the city.

Bequests Are Made

The Workmen's Circle, Branch No. 125 of Kingston, which recently celebrated its 46th anniversary with a dinner, distributed a number of charity bequests. The Circle contributed to the cancer fund in Kingston, to the cerebral palsy fund of Kingston and to the Children's Home. The Kingston lodge is one of more than one thousand throughout the United States and Canada as a fraternal organization which also cares for the education and cultural needs of its members. A drive for clothing for South Koreans has been started by the members.

Hand fans made of palm leaves were used by the early Assyrians and Egyptians.

Young to File Suit

Man Is Killed

Schenectady, March 4 (AP) — A test turbine flew apart in a building at the vast General Electric Co. plant early today, killing one man and injuring several others. Parts of the huge machine shot through the roof and crashed into an adjoining building, workers at the scene said. GE said it would identify the dead man, a test engineeer, after his next of kin had been notified. The engineer was reported to have been working atop the turbine when it flew apart.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 4 (AP)—Stocks pursued an irregular course today in a fairly active market.

Prices were mostly lower at the opening, and by mid-day they had become irregular under cross-currents of buying and selling.

Most price changes were in the small fractions, but a few wide moving issues swung nearly 4 points either way.

Oils were well out in front of the rest of the market, and the chemicals did well. There were several mildly depressed areas including motors, aircrafts, coppers, and distillers, railroads were steady with a few good gainers, the steels, utilities, and airlines also held steady.

American Woolen common gained a point and the two preferred issues were down between 3 and 4 points as plans were made for a new management for the old firm.

Westinghouse Electric, which gained 5½ points in the two previous days, was fairly active today at a steady price. It opened on a block of 2,800 shares off ⅛.

Curtiss-Wright started on a block of 7,500 shares up ⅛ and held to its gain in the face of losses among many other aircrafts.

87 Days to Figure Taxes — 213 to Work

As the proprietor of a hardware store, George Schulhoff, of Cincinnati, Ohio figures he spends 87 of his 300 working days keeping records and filling out tax forms. He has seven levies to worry about; income tax, unemployment compensation, intangible tax, state sales tax, social security, state workmen's compensation and federal withholding. Schulhoff spends 96 hours a year on taking inventory. He figures 15 seconds per transaction for receipts. He spends four days winding up each month on the books, 48 hours more at the end of the year. Then there's a daily check of the cash register and several days a year answering questions of the tax people. His latest headache: Cincinnati is starting a city earnings tax April 1.

87 Days to Figure Taxes — 213 to Work

As the proprietor of a hardware store, George Schulhoff, of Cincinnati, Ohio figures he spends 87 of his 300 working days keeping records and filling out tax forms. He has seven levies to worry about; income tax, unemployment compensation, intangible tax, state sales tax, social security, state workmen's compensation and federal withholding. Schulhoff spends 96 hours a year on taking inventory. He figures 15 seconds per transaction for receipts. He spends four days winding up each month on the books, 48 hours more at the end of the year. Then there's a daily check of the cash register and several days a year answering questions of the tax people. His latest headache: Cincinnati is starting a city earnings tax April 1.

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

"The following rules," I point out in my brand-new book, "What's New in Bridge," are observed by practically all good players (in doubling a contract of three no-trump):

1. If only one suit has been bid by the defenders, the double requests a lead in that suit.

2. If each defender has bid a suit, the doubled wants his own suit led.

3. When the defending side has not bid, the double usually asks for a lead in the first suit bid by the dummy. If the dummy has rebid that suit, however, the leader is expected to use his judgment in choosing one of the other suits.

The third rule is illustrated in today's hand. East doubles in the hope of getting a spade lead. With the spade lead, he is sure of at least two spade tricks and the ace of clubs. East assumes from the fact that his opponents have "staggered" into the game that they have only 25 or 26 points at most. Hence West will have some high cards. Otherwise East could not afford to double because he cannot set the contract with his own hand.

West dutifully opens a spade, and East wins as cheaply as possible. He returns a diamond and West wins a finesse. West leads another spade, and East leads another diamond. South is caught in the middle and must lose three spades, two diamonds, and the ace of clubs. (If South makes the mistake of putting up the ace of diamonds on an early round of that suit, he will be even worse off.) At any rate, the defenders take at least six tricks, setting the contract two tricks.

If East fails to double, West is likely to open a diamond. South wins, promptly knocks out the ace of clubs, and cannot be prevented from winning four hearts, two diamonds, and three clubs. South therefore makes his contract.

The difference between the blind and the directed opening lead is two tricks, and the difference in points is about 800 or 1000 points, depending on vulnerability.

Marlborough Club Praised by Cashin

Speaking before the Parents, Teachers and Friends Club of Marbletown Central School, County Judge John M. Cashin recently complimented the organization's program for cutting juvenile delinquency.

Stressing that most cases coming before him in Children's Court reveal no religious training, the absence by youngsters from churches or synagogues, Judge Cashin said the school club plays an important part in prevention of juvenile delinquency, because it offers something to do in free hours.

"Supervised recreation is a wonderful method of keeping children from the pitfalls of wrongdoing," the judge said, but stressed, "it must be supervised."

Blames Circumstances

Children must have jobs and responsibilities provided for them at home, he said, and added that there are no really bad children. "They do wrong because of circumstances," he said. "There is some good in every bad child," the judge remarked, "and some bad in every good child."

A story narrated by Tiny Ruffner revealed that a teacher's love for her children keeps the little ones from going wrong.

The PTF will provide letters for MCS children for participation in athletics. The awards will be based on fair play, cooperation and attitude, and will include members of the varsity and junior varsity teams.

The eighth grade received the PTF attendance banner with a 51 per cent attendance of parents at the meeting. The adjournment of the meeting was followed by refreshments.

Excitement's in Color and Trim

Little hats with a level look make the most fashion news this spring. We show here (upper left) a little profile bonnet of ice blue straw by Sally Victor. This has long-stemmed roses in red and pink at one side with stems entwined on crown. Hat with visored segment brim (upper right) is by Harryson in vivid Granada orange toyo. It's topped with whip and silk pompoms in matching orange. Hat made of row-on-row of black-and-natural milan straw (lower left) is edged with flange of velvet. This is a Chanda design. Neat toque of yellow toyo by Sally Victor has wing of the straw at one side (lower center) for dramatic flair. Opal straw with a pearly look is used (lower right) by Beatrice Martin for shallow bonnet trimmed with white silk rose and pearlized quills. The small, pretty look of spring hats is keyed to the slim lines of ready-to-wear.

BY GAILE DUGAS, NEA Woman's Editor

New York (NEA)—Hats are flat, forward and generally on the level this spring. The smaller the hat you put on your head, the smarter you'll look. Hats actually aren't silver-dollar size yet, but they're coming close.

The new shallow crowns have been designed to keep company with the short hairdo, the kind of cut that American women continue to find prettiest and most efficient. But even so, brims appear on nearly all hats and vary from the narrowest rim to the cartwheel.

Level hats and the forward pose are given handling that turns them out "small and pretty," exactly right for the slim lines and simplicity of spring clothes. And femininity is achieved through use of soft, rippled effects, fragile flowers as trimming and pale but glowing colors.

Even the profile hat is not tilted this year. It gains a side-swept look through deft twists of the brim, but it's actually worn straight on.

The forward-posed watteau gets flowers as trim most often, in order to convey an impression of ladylike beauty. These start in the tiniest shapes and continue on up to the larger, plateau types.

Vivid color is sprinkled through all of the collections by the top designers: shocking pink, turquoise, sunny yellows, parakeet greens and sapphire blues. But there's a whole rainbow of pastels and many natural straws. White is important, too, but it's most often a white with a dash of color added.

Medical Checkup For Cancer Detection, Urged at Meeting

Dr. T. R. Smalldon presented a film on Breast Cancer Detection, to the Newcomers' Club members at their meeting Tuesday afternoon at the YWCA. He supplemented the film with a question and answer period, emphasizing the necessity of regular medical checkups, as this dread disease is definitely curable if detected in its early stages.

A second film entitled, Man Alive, concluded the program. This film stressed the point that physical ailments cannot be cured by amateur diagnosis and patent medicines, and that the sensible and logical procedure is a prompt visit to your physician when any danger signals appear. Time will never cure a serious illness whereas prompt medical treatment usually will.

The club expressed their appreciation to Dr. Smalldon for this enlightening program.

It was announced that the next club meeting on March 16 will feature technicolor travelogue films on New York and Maryland. Other future programs planned for the club include a visit to the Senate House and a Musicale.

Kingston High School Will Present Band, Orchestra Concert

The annual spring Band and Orchestra Concert of Kingston High School will be given in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday, March 19 and 20 at 8 p. m. it was announced today by Marlin Morrette, director.

The program for this year's concert by the orchestra includes many well-known selections. First on the program is Russian Sailor's Dance by Reinhold Gliere. The composer was born in Kiev, Russia in 1875. He survived the Russian Revolution to gain favor under the new regime. This selection is from his ballet, The Red Poppy, which achieved immediate popularity in America. Its form is that of theme and variations in which the presentation is awkward and heavy to suggest Russian sailors attempting to negotiate intricate dance steps. The orchestral power increases steadily to a mad climax with incisive accents picturing the dancer's ungainly movements. This arrangement is by Merle Isaac.

The second selection, Der Rosenkavalier Waltz by Richard Strauss, are charming examples of his extreme cleverness and mastery of instrumental color and effect. The late Mr. Strauss enjoyed immense popularity as a composer during his long life. This arrangement is by Roy Douglas.

Romance in F, Opus 50 by Ludwig Van Beethoven will be a violin solo by Miss Jane Gunter. This is one of two romances for violin and orchestra by the great master. The Romance in F often appears on concert programs. The sheer lyric beauty of the theme is unsurpassed in violin literature.

Play Gypsies - Dance Gypsies, by Emmerich Kalman, is a popular one in the Magyar style. Rumba Mexicana by Charles Miller is next on the program, employing the claves and maracas as all Latin American dance orchestra selections do. Miller is an American composer, conductor and violinist from Philadelphia.

The Desert Song Selection by Sigmund Romberg will be an instrumental rendition of many of the delightful melodies from Romberg's famous show including, One Alone, The Desert Song, The Riff Song, Let's Have a Love Affair, Romance and It.

The orchestra portion of the concert will be concluded with Highlights from Oklahoma, score by Richard Rodgers, and transcribed for orchestra by Rosario Bourdon. This will include Oklahoma, The Surrey With the Fringe on Top, Oh, What a Beautiful Morning and People Will Say We're in Love.

Tickets are now available for this band and orchestra concert which will feature talented student soloists.

Good Taste Today

By EMILY POST

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

COMPLIMENTARY TICKETS

Today's first letter tells me: "We are planning on giving a testimonial dinner for a member of this firm who is retiring after thirty years of service. There will be a minimum charge for each ticket to help cover the cost of the dinner. We had intended to send complimentary tickets to his immediate family only—that is, those living at home with him, which would be his wife, a son and daughter. Some of those in charge of the arrangements think that all members of his family, that is, his mother, father, sisters and brothers should receive complimentary tickets, and that the guest of honor should be consulted as to any guests he personally would like invited and that they, too, should be sent complimentary tickets. Will you please tell us what is correct?"

It seems to me that complimentary tickets to his own immediate family, that is, his wife, son and daughter, is sufficient. However, if you feel generously inclined, it would be very courteous to include his mother and father, who might be able to come and might not.

Objecting to First Name

Dear Mrs. Post: What can one say when asked point-blank by an acquaintance if she may call you by first name? I am a very conservative person and really do not like being called by my first name by every Tom, Dick and Harry, but what can one say without being considered a snob?

Answer: You could say, "I know I am very old-fashioned, but I do not like being called by my first name."

Hats at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine is being married at home in the afternoon. Her mother, and also her grandmother who is living at home with them, would like to know if they should wear hats and gloves during the ceremony?

Answer: Correctly they should.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but if you are planning to have a small home wedding and would like to know how to decorate your house, you will find her leaflet E-8 helpful. Medical Checkup For Cancer Detection, Urged at Meeting

Dr. T. R. Smalldon presented a film on Breast Cancer Detection, to the Newcomers' Club members at their meeting Tuesday afternoon at the YWCA. He supplemented the film with a question and answer period, emphasizing the necessity of regular medical checkups, as this dread disease is definitely curable if detected in its early stages.

A second film entitled, Man Alive, concluded the program. This film stressed the point that physical ailments cannot be cured by amateur diagnosis and patent medicines, and that the sensible and logical procedure is a prompt visit to your physician when any danger signals appear. Time will never cure a serious illness whereas prompt medical treatment usually will.

The club expressed their appreciation to Dr. Smalldon for this enlightening program.

It was announced that the next club meeting on March 16 will feature technicolor travelogue films on New York and Maryland. Other future programs planned for the club include a visit to the Senate House and a Musicale.

Kingston High School Will Present Band, Orchestra Concert

The annual spring Band and Orchestra Concert of Kingston High School will be given in the high school auditorium Friday and Saturday, March 19 and 20 at 8 p. m. it was announced today by Marlin Morrette, director.

The program for this year's concert by the orchestra includes many well-known selections. First on the program is Russian Sailor's Dance by Reinhold Gliere. The composer was born in Kiev, Russia in 1875. He survived the Russian Revolution to gain favor under the new regime. This selection is from his ballet, The Red Poppy, which achieved immediate popularity in America. Its form is that of theme and variations in which the presentation is awkward and heavy to suggest Russian sailors attempting to negotiate intricate dance steps. The orchestral power increases steadily to a mad climax with incisive accents picturing the dancer's ungainly movements. This arrangement is by Merle Isaac.

The second selection, Der Rosenkavalier Waltz by Richard Strauss, are charming examples of his extreme cleverness and mastery of instrumental color and effect. The late Mr. Strauss enjoyed immense popularity as a composer during his long life. This arrangement is by Roy Douglas.

Romance in F, Opus 50 by Ludwig Van Beethoven will be a violin solo by Miss Jane Gunter. This is one of two romances for violin and orchestra by the great master. The Romance in F often appears on concert programs. The sheer lyric beauty of the theme is unsurpassed in violin literature.

Play Gypsies - Dance Gypsies, by Emmerich Kalman, is a popular one in the Magyar style. Rumba Mexicana by Charles Miller is next on the program, employing the claves and maracas as all Latin American dance orchestra selections do. Miller is an American composer, conductor and violinist from Philadelphia.

The Desert Song Selection by Sigmund Romberg will be an instrumental rendition of many of the delightful melodies from Romberg's famous show including, One Alone, The Desert Song, The Riff Song, Let's Have a Love Affair, Romance and It.

The orchestra portion of the concert will be concluded with Highlights from Oklahoma, score by Richard Rodgers, and transcribed for orchestra by Rosario Bourdon. This will include Oklahoma, The Surrey With the Fringe on Top, Oh, What a Beautiful Morning and People Will Say We're in Love.

Tickets are now available for this band and orchestra concert which will feature talented student soloists.

Good Taste Today

(Author of Etiquette, Children Are People, etc.)

COMPLIMENTARY TICKETS

Today's first letter tells me: "We are planning on giving a testimonial dinner for a member of this firm who is retiring after thirty years of service. There will be a minimum charge for each ticket to help cover the cost of the dinner. We had intended to send complimentary tickets to his immediate family only—that is, those living at home with him, which would be his wife, a son and daughter. Some of those in charge of the arrangements think that all members of his family, that is, his mother, father, sisters and brothers should receive complimentary tickets, and that the guest of honor should be consulted as to any guests he personally would like invited and that they, too, should be sent complimentary tickets. Will you please tell us what is correct?"

It seems to me that complimentary tickets to his own immediate family, that is, his wife, son and daughter, is sufficient. However, if you feel generously inclined, it would be very courteous to include his mother and father, who might be able to come and might not.

Objecting to First Name

Dear Mrs. Post: What can one say when asked point-blank by an acquaintance if she may call you by first name? I am a very conservative person and really do not like being called by my first name by every Tom, Dick and Harry, but what can one say without being considered a snob?

Answer: You could say, "I know I am very old-fashioned, but I do not like being called by my first name."

Hats at Wedding

Dear Mrs. Post: A friend of mine is being married at home in the afternoon. Her mother, and also her grandmother who is living at home with them, would like to know if they should wear hats and gloves during the ceremony?

Answer: Correctly they should.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but if you are planning to have a small home wedding and would like to know how to decorate your house, you will find her leaflet E-8 helpful. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. FP, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Aces Score 97 to 69 Win to Even Senior Rec Loop Playoffs

Kozlowski Hits 32; Rapps Cop 37-36 Victory

Maines, Preps Take Junior Decisions

With Bob Kozlowski spearheading the attack, the Newkirk Aces evened the Senior Recreation League playoffs Wednesday night with a 97 to 69 victory over Sickler's Delivery at the MJM court.

Kozlowski fired in 13 baskets and added six foul shots for a total of 32 points to emerge as the top scorer of the night.

Last night's victory for the Aces threw the Shaughnessy playoffs into a 1-1 tie. The third and final game is scheduled next Monday at 7:15 p. m.

Over in the Midget League, the Rapp Juniors went one up on the National Juniors with a squeaky 37 to 36 triumph. The two clubs will meet again Monday at 8 p. m. at the MJM gym.

In the Junior Division playoffs last night on the George Washington School floor, Maines Sport Shop eliminated Esposito Cleaners with a 55 to 48 decision while the Kingston Preps evened their series with the Celtics by virtue of a 63 to 60 verdict.

The Preps and Celtics will meet Monday at the GWS at 7:30 p. m. to determine who will meet the Sportsmen in the Shaughnessy finals.

Jumping off to a 13-point lead at the end of the first quarter, the issue was never in doubt during the Aces-Sickler's contest. The winners led by 26-13 at the first quarter and held a 38-32 lead at halftime.

Newkirk's continued to hold the upperhand during the third canto by scoring 25 points but really poured it on during the final stanza with 34 markers The best Sickler's could do was 20 in the third and 17 in the closing period.

Sickler Nets 24

Herm Sickler topped the losers with 24 points. Don Smith had 19 for the Aces while Lard Shaffer contributed 16 for Sickler's Delivery.

The Rapps-Nationals fray was close right down to the wire. The Nationals held the upperhand until the closing seconds of the game when Rapps tied the score and forced the game into overtime. In the extra period, Rapp's margin of victory was a foul shot by Johnny Woods. Woods was high man for the winners and the ball game with 18 markers.

Mike Perry and John Reinhardt shared honors for the Nationals with each bucketing 14 points. Reinhardt hit with amazing accuracy from the charity stripe as he converted 12 straight fouls.

Holding a comfortable lead from the outset, Maines Sport Shop didn't have too much trouble in kayoing the Esposito Cleaners from further post-season play last night. The winners led at the first quarter by 18-9 and at the half by 27-22. They kept up their steady lead through the third quarter and led going into the final stanza by 42 to 34.

Ron Marks and Bubba Burns were high for the Sportsmen with 13 and 11 in that order. Mike Alecca was top man in a losing cause as he swished the cords for 16 points. Jim Fiore had 12 for the losers.

Fitzgerald, Kias Hot

A youngster by the name of Lee Kias (not a strange name in local basketball circles) was the big gun for the Preps in their 63 to 60 decision over the Celtics. Lee tossed in 12 fields and a foul shot for a total of 25 points. His terrific shooting kept the Preps in the contest during the final quarter.

The Preps had to ward off a determined bid by the Celtics in that final period to win by a slim margin of three points. Down by seven points at half time, the Preps went into final period leading by nine and almost were upended by some spectacular shooting by Bill Fitzgerald who scored 30 points.

Andy Lee and Jim Uhl each had 12 for the Preps while Noel Bonacci had 10 for the losers.

Coleman Is Ready to Take Martin's Job

(By The Associated Press)

Call it the luck of the New York Yankees if you like, but somehow, somewhere, the five-time world champions always manage to come up with a replacement for their departed stars.

Billy Martin, the star of the 1953 World Series, was army-bound today after working out for exactly two days, but his departure was causing no furrows in the brows of the Yank brass. Sitting quietly on the sidelines were Gerry Coleman, the same fellow who left the second-base job when he was called into the marine corps in 1952.

Now the situation is reversed. Martin had the position, and it was Coleman who was the substitute. Billy the Kid, who all but pulverized the Brooklyn Dodgers last fall has to report to the army in San Francisco next Monday for his second hitch.

He served 5½ months starting in November 1950, and was short just two weeks of the six-month mark, which would have made him ineligible for recall. He was discharged because he claimed dependents.

Now he has five, but the army reclassified him a 1-A nonetheless. Billy said he's go willingly, but said he couldn't understand how they would take him now that he has one more dependent than when he was released.

Veeck Schedule Blasted

While Stengel ponders his problems, Bill Veeck, the former owner of the Baltimore Orioles (Then the St. Louis Browns) popped up in Yuma, Ariz., and promptly got in a hassle with general manager Art Ehlers and manager Jimmy Dikes.

Ehlers was unhappy about the heavy exhibition schedule of 34 games in 37 days arranged by Veeck, as was Dykes. Veeck said it was a good one, and accused Ehlers of forcing the Philadelphia A's with whom Ehlers was connected last year, to play even more.

"Veeck says he left us a good exhibition schedule," fumed Dykes. "Well, you can say for me that's the worst exhibition schedule I ever saw."

Veeck also thought it was a poor idea to release Satchel Paige and trade Johnny Groth to the Chicago White Sox for Sam Mele. That really made Dykes blow up.

"Who does he think he is," the skipper roared. "Trying to tell us how we should run our ball club. Veeck is dead in the American League and he never will come back. All he is shooting for is a little publicity everywhere he goes."

High on Jensen

Elsewhere along the Grapefruit circuit:

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox is high on outfielder Jackie Jensen observing that Jackie doesn't look as heavy as last year . . . "For the first time since 1919 I haven't got an ache or a pain," said Phil Rizzuto, Yanks' veteran shortstop . . . Manager Eddie Joost said the A's haven't played any intrasquad games yet because "I've seen a thousand of those games where the pitcher couldn't get the ball over the plate and everybody else stood around bored and disgusted."

Rocca-Larsen Feature Mat Bill for March 10

Argentine Rocca, whose educated feet, have made him one of the sensations of wrestling, will be the feature attraction of an all-star wrestling show at municipal auditorium next Wednesday night, March 10, it was announced today.

The South American, who features a wide variety of holds with his bare feet, is to take on Herb Larson, a newcomer from Toronto, Ont., for two out of three falls, Promoter Ted Bayly announced.

Rocca features a hold called the corkscrew head-lock, with which he holds even the strongest grappler on the floor with his feet and also has rolling leg flips that add spice to the show and exasperates an opponent.

He also is an expert in the spectacular drop kick and flying scissors.

Larson is on the rough side, featuring forearm clouts and illegal tactics.

Two more bouts will complete the card.

Mannello Raps 268-624; Rose Schatzel Posts 610

Veteran Joe Mannello unloaded a hefty 268 blast in his middle game and finished with 624 to lead this week's session of the City Minor slate at the Bowlodrome.

Bill Murray missed the 600 circle by three pins, rapping 597 on 234-183-180.

Rose Schatzel, a veteran of the distaff side, led the Women's Major League with scores of 171-203-236 for 610. Charlie Grunenwald's 602 topped the pinfall in the Independent League while Roland Post's 231 solo was high for the circuit.

Following Mannello and Murray in the City Minor were John Berardi who hit 208-221-588; Ralph Garofalo 210-577; George Bilyou 224-555.

Also of note were Joe Misasi with 203-555; Lou Secreto 204-555; Tom Parker 204-554; Ed Dasher 205-550; Vince Noble 230-546; Charlie Raible 545; Ray Herrick 537; Mike Levy 529.

22,570 Deer Killed in NY During 1953

Albany, March 4—Early season predictions by the Conservation Department's Bureau of Game of a banner deer season in New York state in 1953 were verified today by Commissioner Perry B. Duryea's announcement of the complete tabulation—a total reported buck deer kill of 22,357 (22,160 by gunners, 197 by archers) plus 213 antlerless deer taken by archers for a grand total of 22,570 deer.

Only in 1952 was a greater buck kill reported, Commissioner Duryea said, and in that year hunting pressure was intensified by the two-day, deer-of-either-sex season held in 29 counties of the state.

1,149 in Ulster

In Ulster county alone, a total of 1,149 deer were killed in 1953, the report indicated. Of these, 1,133 were buck and 16 antlerless deer. Seven archers were reported to have bagged deer while 1,126 gunners were said to be in the field.

Throughout the Catskill region, the total number of deer killed reach 8,529, 8,421 by gunners and 108 by archers.

Aces Score 97 to 69 Win to Even Senior Rec Loop Playoffs

Kozlowski Hits 32; Rapps Cop 37-36 Victory

Maines, Preps Take Junior Decisions

With Bob Kozlowski spearheading the attack, the Newkirk Aces evened the Senior Recreation League playoffs Wednesday night with a 97 to 69 victory over Sickler's Delivery at the MJM court.

Kozlowski fired in 13 baskets and added six foul shots for a total of 32 points to emerge as the top scorer of the night.

Last night's victory for the Aces threw the Shaughnessy playoffs into a 1-1 tie. The third and final game is scheduled next Monday at 7:15 p. m.

Over in the Midget League, the Rapp Juniors went one up on the National Juniors with a squeaky 37 to 36 triumph. The two clubs will meet again Monday at 8 p. m. at the MJM gym.

In the Junior Division playoffs last night on the George Washington School floor, Maines Sport Shop eliminated Esposito Cleaners with a 55 to 48 decision while the Kingston Preps evened their series with the Celtics by virtue of a 63 to 60 verdict.

The Preps and Celtics will meet Monday at the GWS at 7:30 p. m. to determine who will meet the Sportsmen in the Shaughnessy finals.

Jumping off to a 13-point lead at the end of the first quarter, the issue was never in doubt during the Aces-Sickler's contest. The winners led by 26-13 at the first quarter and held a 38-32 lead at halftime.

Newkirk's continued to hold the upperhand during the third canto by scoring 25 points but really poured it on during the final stanza with 34 markers The best Sickler's could do was 20 in the third and 17 in the closing period.

Sickler Nets 24

Herm Sickler topped the losers with 24 points. Don Smith had 19 for the Aces while Lard Shaffer contributed 16 for Sickler's Delivery.

The Rapps-Nationals fray was close right down to the wire. The Nationals held the upperhand until the closing seconds of the game when Rapps tied the score and forced the game into overtime. In the extra period, Rapp's margin of victory was a foul shot by Johnny Woods. Woods was high man for the winners and the ball game with 18 markers.

Mike Perry and John Reinhardt shared honors for the Nationals with each bucketing 14 points. Reinhardt hit with amazing accuracy from the charity stripe as he converted 12 straight fouls.

Holding a comfortable lead from the outset, Maines Sport Shop didn't have too much trouble in kayoing the Esposito Cleaners from further post-season play last night. The winners led at the first quarter by 18-9 and at the half by 27-22. They kept up their steady lead through the third quarter and led going into the final stanza by 42 to 34.

Ron Marks and Bubba Burns were high for the Sportsmen with 13 and 11 in that order. Mike Alecca was top man in a losing cause as he swished the cords for 16 points. Jim Fiore had 12 for the losers.

Fitzgerald, Kias Hot

A youngster by the name of Lee Kias (not a strange name in local basketball circles) was the big gun for the Preps in their 63 to 60 decision over the Celtics. Lee tossed in 12 fields and a foul shot for a total of 25 points. His terrific shooting kept the Preps in the contest during the final quarter.

The Preps had to ward off a determined bid by the Celtics in that final period to win by a slim margin of three points. Down by seven points at half time, the Preps went into final period leading by nine and almost were upended by some spectacular shooting by Bill Fitzgerald who scored 30 points.

Andy Lee and Jim Uhl each had 12 for the Preps while Noel Bonacci had 10 for the losers.

Rocca-Larsen Feature Mat Bill for March 10

Argentine Rocca, whose educated feet, have made him one of the sensations of wrestling, will be the feature attraction of an all-star wrestling show at municipal auditorium next Wednesday night, March 10, it was announced today.

The South American, who features a wide variety of holds with his bare feet, is to take on Herb Larson, a newcomer from Toronto, Ont., for two out of three falls, Promoter Ted Bayly announced.

Rocca features a hold called the corkscrew head-lock, with which he holds even the strongest grappler on the floor with his feet and also has rolling leg flips that add spice to the show and exasperates an opponent.

He also is an expert in the spectacular drop kick and flying scissors.

Larson is on the rough side, featuring forearm clouts and illegal tactics.

Two more bouts will complete the card.

Coleman Is ReadytoTake Martin's Job

(By The Associated Press)

Call it the luck of the New York Yankees if you like, but somehow, somewhere, the five-time world champions always manage to come up with a replacement for their departed stars.

Billy Martin, the star of the 1953 World Series, was army-bound today after working out for exactly two days, but his departure was causing no furrows in the brows of the Yank brass. Sitting quietly on the sidelines were Gerry Coleman, the same fellow who left the second-base job when he was called into the marine corps in 1952.

Now the situation is reversed. Martin had the position, and it was Coleman who was the substitute. Billy the Kid, who all but pulverized the Brooklyn Dodgers last fall has to report to the army in San Francisco next Monday for his second hitch.

He served 5½ months starting in November 1950, and was short just two weeks of the six-month mark, which would have made him ineligible for recall. He was discharged because he claimed dependents.

Now he has five, but the army reclassified him a 1-A nonetheless. Billy said he's go willingly, but said he couldn't understand how they would take him now that he has one more dependent than when he was released.

Veeck Schedule Blasted

While Stengel ponders his problems, Bill Veeck, the former owner of the Baltimore Orioles (Then the St. Louis Browns) popped up in Yuma, Ariz., and promptly got in a hassle with general manager Art Ehlers and manager Jimmy Dikes.

Ehlers was unhappy about the heavy exhibition schedule of 34 games in 37 days arranged by Veeck, as was Dykes. Veeck said it was a good one, and accused Ehlers of forcing the Philadelphia A's with whom Ehlers was connected last year, to play even more.

"Veeck says he left us a good exhibition schedule," fumed Dykes. "Well, you can say for me that's the worst exhibition schedule I ever saw."

Veeck also thought it was a poor idea to release Satchel Paige and trade Johnny Groth to the Chicago White Sox for Sam Mele.

That really made Dykes blow up.

"Who does he think he is," the skipper roared. "Trying to tell us how we should run our ball club. Veeck is dead in the American League and he never will come back. All he is shooting for is a little publicity everywhere he goes."

High on Jensen

Elsewhere along the Grapefruit circuit:

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Boston Red Sox is high on outfielder Jackie Jensen observing that Jackie doesn't look as heavy as last year . . . "For the first time since 1919 I haven't got an ache or a pain," said Phil Rizzuto, Yanks' veteran shortstop . . . Manager Eddie Joost said the A's haven't played any intrasquad games yet because "I've seen a thousand of those games where the pitcher couldn't get the ball over the plate and everybody else stood around bored and disgusted."

22,570 Deer Killed in NY During 1953

Albany, March 4—Early season predictions by the Conservation Department's Bureau of Game of a banner deer season in New York state in 1953 were verified today by Commissioner Perry B. Duryea's announcement of the complete tabulation—a total reported buck deer kill of 22,357 (22,160 by gunners, 197 by archers) plus 213 antlerless deer taken by archers for a grand total of 22,570 deer.

Only in 1952 was a greater buck kill reported, Commissioner Duryea said, and in that year hunting pressure was intensified by the two-day, deer-of-either-sex season held in 29 counties of the state.

Compared to previous buck only seasons, last year's reported kill of 22,357 topped all previous records for New York, the commissioner reported.

1,149 in Ulster

In Ulster county alone, a total of 1,149 deer were killed in 1953, the report indicated. Of these, 1,133 were buck and 16 antlerless deer. Seven archers were reported to have bagged deer while 1,126 gunners were said to be in the field.

Throughout the Catskill region, the total number of deer killed reach 8,529, 8,421 by gunners and 108 by archers.

City Board Says Holman Guilty in Gambling Fix

Retire or Be Fired, Veteran Coach Told

New York, March 4 (AP)—Nat Holman, who spent virtually his entire adult life building City College of New York into a national basketball power, was told today—in an unprecedented decision by the Board of Higher Education—to retire of be fired.

The graying perfectionist of the court only last week was cleared of charges of misconduct by a majority report of a three-man trial committee of the board as a result of the college basketball scandals of 1951. Complete exoneration by the entire tribunal was regarded as nothing more than a formality.

But for the first time, the board overruled the recommendation of its trial committee and thus blotted out the 34-year career of the man who became known to countless thousands as "Mr. Basketball."

Aide Is Restored

It was close to 1 a. m. when the board made its announcement. It had discussed the matter for more than four hours. It also voted to restore with a reprimand Bobby Sand, Holman's assistant, who was tried with Holman, "to such duties as the president of City College may designate," effective March 4.

Holman, who led the CCNY team to victories in the NCAA and National Invitation tournaments in 1950 only to have his shining star explode when seven of his boys were implicated in the fixes, seemed stunned.

"It's beyond belief," he said, emerging from the meeting room. He shook his head when asked for further comment.

The formal decision gave Holman a choice of dismissal without pay as of Nov. 18, 1952 or to file an application to retire within 30 days.

Calls Action Outrage

"The board obviously was defending itself," said Hayes.

"I am presently considering an appeal to Commissioner of Education Louis Wilson. My personal opinion is that the action of the board is an outrage."

Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of CCNY, a city-owned institution, said any comment on the case by him "would be inappropriate."

Asked what went on at the closed meeting, Dr. Gallagher said 15 voting members of the board were present and althought they were not unanimous they had agreed by majority vote on an item-by-item examination of the charges.

Holman's clearance by the trial committee last week was by a 2-1 vote and the board said in a statement that "with one revision, the board adopted the recommendations of the minority report and found Prof. Holman guilty of neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a teacher."

The minority report of the trial committee, written by Porter R. Chandler recommended that Holman be found guilty on two specifications:

1. That Holman knew about, but failed to act, regarding Sands "impropriety" in approaching Ed Warner, a CCNY player, regarding a South American trip and a "play-for-pay" plan.

2. That he conspired to conceal a letter written by Sand to Warner offering inducements not in keeping with the player's amateur status.

So technically, it was on these two points, plus part of another specification charging failure to report a bribe attempt, that the board found Holman guilty.

Seven Players Involved

The gambling scandals, which shocked the country after the 1950 Holman-coached team had been first to win both of the major post-season tournaments, involved seven City College players, two of whom drew prison sentences, as well as almost two dozen college players from several other schools.

The scandal resulted in CCNY being refused permission to play in Madison Square Garden. Holman, meanwhile, took a trip abroad. He was in Spain when he and Sand were suspended in Nov. 1952. The trial committee began its hearings last May 27.

S-A Five Triumphs

Frank Fiore fired home the winning basket in the last few seconds of play to give the Salvation Army quintet a 67-65 victory over the Jewish Community Center this week. High for the winners was Rich Nagele with 25 points. Fiore scored 18. Levy tallied 30 for the JCC.

Rangers Win, Tie Bruins for Fourth

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers finally have reached their goal of fourth place, the last possible play-off spot in the National Hockey League.

The Rangers, however, found themselves today in a flat-footed tie with the Boston Bruins. Boston has two more games to play than the New Yorkers.

In the only game played last night, the New Yorkers deadlocked the Bruins by tieing the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-3. The tie also enabled Toronto to take over second place.

Paddleball Results

In a paddleball match at the YMCA this week, Steve Nekos and Don Riehl defeated Dr. Sidney Pauker and Jack Ostrander by 21-8 and 21-18.

Harlan Caton, 18-year-old bowler from Houston, Tex., broke the American Junior Bowling Congress all-time record when he rolled games of 238-256-254 for a 748 total.

Nats Might Deal Selves Into AL's First Division

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

Orlando, Fla. (NEA) — The Washington Senators live on deals.

And everybody at their Orlando camp believes that another one or two like the one engineered with the Red Sox last December most certainly would lift the Nats out of the second division. It brought Mickey McDermott and Tommy Umphlett for Jackie Jensen.

"Clark Griffith must have used a gun on his son-in-law, Joe Cronin," says one of the older members of the party.

"Imagine getting a left-hand pitcher, who won 18 games while defending himself against the Little League left field wall at Fenway Park, along with an accomplished young outfielder, who batted .283 in his freshman year. For this we gave up Jensen, who has yet to demonstrate that he is a major league hitter.

"Until Jensen spent some weeks under Bucky Harris, the old Boy Manager was of the opinion that he couldn't miss. But Harris changed his mind last season some time before Jensen left the last of 400-odd men on base. Had Jim Busby batted where Jensen did, fourth or fifth, he would have driven in more than 100 runs. As it was, he drove in 82.

"Jensen has never quite gotten out of his head that he was an All-America football player. Up to now, he has refused to listen to men who could help him straighten out his difficulties at the plate.

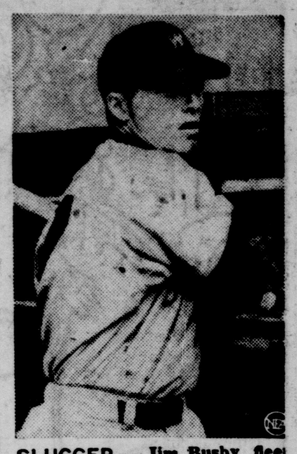
Tied Up Shoulders

He has the tied-up shoulders of the football player. Pitchers who can put the ball where they want it inside have no trouble with him. Handcuffed by an inside pitch, he gets mad and fishes for an outside curve like a caster. The pressure got him to such an extent that he asked to be dropped in the batting order.

"Jensen can't pull the ball. His power is to right center, so I can't see where he is going to be any great shucks in Boston.

"Meanwhile, we have McDermott, a big fellow with unlimited potential just coming into his own at 25, and Umphlett, not yet 23 and an all-round athlete who can't help packing more authority as he matures."

As pointed out before, the Nationals thrive on trades. Whatever they do this season they'll accomplish with other clubs' erstwhile pitchers and outfielders.



SLUGGER — Jim Busby, fleet Washington centerfielder, is expected to take up the runs batted-in slack left by departure of Jackie Jensen. (NEA)

The Yankees contributed hurlers Bob Porterfield and Spec Shea; the White Sox sent them Chuck Stobbs, a left-hander who bagged nine of his last 12 in 1953. Little Connie Marrero is the fifth dependable, and Manager Harris tells you Johnny Schmitz, the one-time southpaw Cub luminary, can still get the other blokes out. He also came from the Yankees.

The White Sox, of course, dealt Busby, and the Red Sox the third outfielder, Clyde Vollmer.

The Nats are set at first and third base will Mickey Vernon unless he's traded, editor's note) and Eddie Yost, and Wayne Terwilliger is sustaining at second.

For them to crash the first division, Pete Runnels simply has to revert to his freshman year as a shortstop. The Oklahoma Kid's batting fell apart with his fielding last year, but Harris, the optimist, says he knows he can do better.

Eddie FitzGerald and Joe Tipton will divide the catching, with neither doing much hitting.

If it turns out that Roy Sievers, obtained from the Orioles for Gil Coan, can't throw well enough to play the outfield, there is practically no bench.

But Bucky Harris has pitchers to throw the ball and outfielders to catch it and has been known to do pretty well with considerably less.

Gulfstream Opens

Miami, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Gulfstream Park takes over Florida's racing operations today with the $10,000 Armed Handicap at six furlongs as a feature and the big question is whether the "track by the sea" can continue the torrid pace in betting and attendance set by Hialeah. Fourteen sprint stars have been entered for the Armed and if all go the winner will get $8,350 from the total purse of $12,600. The Armed, honoring the famous old Calmuet Farm's gelding who starred at Gulfstream, replaces the Inaugural, won last year by Whiffenpoof. Hialeah closed yesterday with new records in both attendance and betting, and the "track beautiful" astonished racegoers with its big increases. Attendance was up 5.02 per cent and wagering showed a gain of 8.04 from last years' record figures.

CYO Playoffs Saturday

St. Mary's Girls, champions of the Ulster County CYO Girls' Metropolitan League, will travel to Poughkeepsie Saturday afternoon to meet the Dutchess county champs. The game is slated for 3 p. m. at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel gymnasium in Poughkeepsie with St. Joachim's of Beacon as the opponents. The feature game will be preceded by the junior girl's championship between the Orange and Dutchess county winners. St. Mary's went through the season with a 7-2 record while St. Joachim's won six straight without a defeat. Winners of these games will be crowned upstate champs and will then meet the New York city area titleholders for the Archdiocesan crown.

Byrd Key Man

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Harry Byrd, the big pitcher, who flopped last year after winning 15 games for the Philadelphia A's in 1952, is one of the key men in the plans of the New York Yankees and no one knows it better than Manager Casey Stengel.

"He has to be figured as one of my regular starters," said Casey today. "He's a big man who has to pitch often. That was one of the things we thought of in trading Raschi. I know he had a bad year last year, but I also know that our hitters didn't like to face him even if he was a 20-game loser."

The Yanks obtained Byrd as part of an 11-man deal with the A's during the winter.

Terry Helps Brooks

Vero Beach, Fla., March 4 (AP)—At 55, Memphis Bill Terry, the ex-manager of the New York Giants—and a hated man in Brooklyn a generation ago—dropped in on the Dodgers today on a social call and promptly was put to work giving batting tips to the players.

Terry held court with some of the Brook batters and told them how he tried to break slumps when he was playing.

"I shuffled up in the batter's box and tried to push the change-up pitch to the opposite field rather than hit for distance," said Terry. "Consider the pitcher your enemy and try to hit the ball right at him so it will hit him in the head."

He promised to stay around until Saturday.

Giants Have Lefties

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—The New York Giants may not win the pennant this year, but the other clubs are not going to take advantage of their lack of left-handed pitchers.

"Last year as soon as I used up Dave Koslo I was finished," said skipper Leo Durocher today. "Then the other side could parade all its big leftles to the plate and I was helpless. Now, besides, Koslo, we've got Johnny Antonelli, Don Liddle, John McCall and Jim Constable."

Knicks Need Four To Clinch Title

(By The Associated Press.)

The New York Knickerbockers were within four games of clinching the National Basketball Association's eastern division title.

The league-leading Knicks defeated the Philadelphia warriors 88-79 last night at White Plains, to stretch their lead to three full games over the second-place Boston Celtics.

In the only other game, the Milwaukee Hawks nipped the Baltimore Bullets 103-100.

The J & E Milk Bar, led by Frank Ebelheiser's brilliant performance, upset Back Cedaraps 82 to 63 at the YMCA Wednesday night. Ebelheiser scored 35 points and also played an outstanding floor game. Marine Big Hope For East Glovers

New York, March 4 (AP)—A big, young Leatherneck with the fighting heart of a marine will spearhead a New York-Eastern team which will try and end a long victory-drouth against Chicago-Western squad in Madison Square Garden March 22.

The Easterners haven't beaten the West since 1945 in the National Golden Gloves tournament but they think they might be able to do it this year with 18-year-old Len Kanthal to inspire them.

Kanthal, a 6-2, 207-pound 18-year-old who has been boxing a little over a year, came from behind with a stirring rally to whip New York's defending champion, Julius Griffin, for the heavyweight crown in the Eastern Golden Gloves windup at the Garden last night.

Title to Washington

The Washington youngster not only won the individual title but his thrilling triumph in the last scrap of the three-day tourney gave the Washington squad the team championship with 19 points. New York could have finished first in the scoring with a victory even though the host team is not eligible for the team trophy. The locals wound up with 16 points followed by Charlotte, N. C., and Pittsburgh, 11 each; Newark, N. J., 8; Buffalo, 7; Lowell, Mass., 6; Huntington, W. Va., and Jacksonville, Fla., 1 each and Miami, Fla., nothing.

Staggered in First

Kanthal, a marine Pfc. stationed at Quantico, Va., was staggered in the first round by Griffin, a 196-pound counterman. But in the second the lumbering youngster floored the Negro (he was given the mandatory eight count) and then Kanthal outpunched his foe in the final frame as the crowd of 5,294 roared.

Griffin was the third and last of the three defending champions to get beaten. Both bamtamweight Jimmy Lane of Huntington, W. Va., and featherweight Edson Brown of New York lost out in the semi-finals. Their conquerors, George Davis, Washington 118-pounder, and Harry Smith, Lowell, Mass., 126-pounder, went on to cop the titles.

Other Champions

The other champions crowned were Joe Belleau; New York, 112-pounds; Ernest Williams, Washington, 135-pounds; Reybon Stubbs, Pittsburgh, 147-pounds; John Morris, Pittsburgh, 160-pounds, and Richard Hill, Charlotte, N. C., 175-pounds.

In addition to the eight champions, New York coaches will pick 12 other boxers from the tourney for the team which will face Chicago.

City Board Says Holman Guilty in Gambling Fix

Retire or Be Fired, Veteran Coach Told

New York, March 4 (AP)—Nat Holman, who spent virtually his entire adult life building City College of New York into a national basketball power, was told today—in an unprecedented decision by the Board of Higher Education—to retire of be fired.

The graying perfectionist of the court only last week was cleared of charges of misconduct by a majority report of a three-man trial committee of the board as a result of the college basketball scandals of 1951. Complete exoneration by the entire tribunal was regarded as nothing more than a formality.

But for the first time, the board overruled the recommendation of its trial committee and thus blotted out the 34-year career of the man who became known to countless thousands as "Mr. Basketball."

Aide Is Restored

It was close to 1 a. m. when the board made its announcement. It had discussed the matter for more than four hours. It also voted to restore with a reprimand Bobby Sand, Holman's assistant, who was tried with Holman, "to such duties as the president of City College may designate," effective March 4.

Holman, who led the CCNY team to victories in the NCAA and National Invitation tournaments in 1950 only to have his shining star explode when seven of his boys were implicated in the fixes, seemed stunned.

"It's beyond belief," he said, emerging from the meeting room. He shook his head when asked for further comment.

The formal decision gave Holman a choice of dismissal without pay as of Nov. 18, 1952 or to file an application to retire within 30 days.

Calls Action Outrage

"The board obviously was defending itself," said Hayes.

"I am presently considering an appeal to Commissioner of Education Louis Wilson. My personal opinion is that the action of the board is an outrage."

Dr. Buell Gallagher, president of CCNY, a city-owned institution, said any comment on the case by him "would be inappropriate."

Asked what went on at the closed meeting, Dr. Gallagher said 15 voting members of the board were present and althought they were not unanimous they had agreed by majority vote on an item-by-item examination of the charges.

Holman's clearance by the trial committee last week was by a 2-1 vote and the board said in a statement that "with one revision, the board adopted the recommendations of the minority report and found Prof. Holman guilty of neglect of duty and conduct unbecoming a teacher."

The minority report of the trial committee, written by Porter R. Chandler recommended that Holman be found guilty on two specifications:

1. That Holman knew about, but failed to act, regarding Sands "impropriety" in approaching Ed Warner, a CCNY player, regarding a South American trip and a "play-for-pay" plan.

2. That he conspired to conceal a letter written by Sand to Warner offering inducements not in keeping with the player's amateur status.

So technically, it was on these two points, plus part of another specification charging failure to report a bribe attempt, that the board found Holman guilty.

Seven Players Involved

The gambling scandals, which shocked the country after the 1950 Holman-coached team had been first to win both of the major post-season tournaments, involved seven City College players, two of whom drew prison sentences, as well as almost two dozen college players from several other schools.

The scandal resulted in CCNY being refused permission to play in Madison Square Garden. Holman, meanwhile, took a trip abroad. He was in Spain when he and Sand were suspended in Nov. 1952. The trial committee began its hearings last May 27.

S-A Five Triumphs

Frank Fiore fired home the winning basket in the last few seconds of play to give the Salvation Army quintet a 67-65 victory over the Jewish Community Center this week. High for the winners was Rich Nagele with 25 points. Fiore scored 18. Levy tallied 30 for the JCC.

Outboard Races Are Planned on Eddyville Basin

Starting Sunday, May 16, Kingston will have its first sanctioned stock outboard race at the Lazy Bones boat basin in Eddyville.

This announcement was made today by Chick Miller who said the local basin was approved by the Eastern Regional delegates Feb. 28 during a meeting of the American Power Boat Association in Syracuse.

The Lazy Bones Basis property is better known locally as the old IJB Ark and is now owned and operated by Miller.

Local contestants who have been active in the past two years as professionals and amateurs competing in the Eastern States, and who are expected to take part in the future local competitions, include Chick Miller and sons, Cliff and Bruce Miller, Richmond Park; Jack Otis, "Pappy" Wells and son, Bobby Wells; Lee DeWitt, Bert Johnston, Jack Heiser, "Sonny" Munson and Olive and Warren Spinnenweber.

Miller said today his family will give a trophy each year in memory of the famous Hudson river liner Mary Powell.

Rangers Win, Tie Bruins for Fourth

(By The Associated Press)

The New York Rangers finally have reached their goal of fourth place, the last possible play-off spot in the National Hockey League.

The Rangers, however, found themselves today in a flat-footed tie with the Boston Bruins. Boston has two more games to play than the New Yorkers.

In the only game played last night, the New Yorkers deadlocked the Bruins by tieing the Toronto Maple Leafs 3-3. The tie also enabled Toronto to take over second place.

Don (Bones) Raleigh scored a three-goal hat trick as he constituted the entire offense for the Rangers.

Paddleball Results

In a paddleball match at the YMCA this week, Steve Nekos and Don Riehl defeated Dr. Sidney Pauker and Jack Ostrander by 21-8 and 21-18.

Harlan Caton, 18-year-old bowler from Houston, Tex., broke the American Junior Bowling Congress all-time record when he rolled games of 238-256-254 for a 748 total.

Nats Might Deal Selves Into AL's First Division

By HARRY GRAYSON
(NEA Sports Editor)

Orlando, Fla. (NEA) — The Washington Senators live on deals.

And everybody at their Orlando camp believes that another one or two like the one engineered with the Red Sox last December most certainly would lift the Nats out of the second division. It brought Mickey McDermott and Tommy Umphlett for Jackie Jensen.

"Clark Griffith must have used a gun on his son-in-law, Joe Cronin," says one of the older members of the party.

"Imagine getting a left-hand pitcher, who won 18 games while defending himself against the Little League left field wall at Fenway Park, along with an accomplished young outfielder, who batted .283 in his freshman year. For this we gave up Jensen, who has yet to demonstrate that he is a major league hitter.

"Until Jensen spent some weeks under Bucky Harris, the old Boy Manager was of the opinion that he couldn't miss. But Harris changed his mind last season some time before Jensen left the last of 400-odd men on base. Had Jim Busby batted where Jensen did, fourth or fifth, he would have driven in more than 100 runs. As it was, he drove in 82.

"Jensen has never quite gotten out of his head that he was an All-America football player. Up to now, he has refused to listen to men who could help him straighten out his difficulties at the plate.

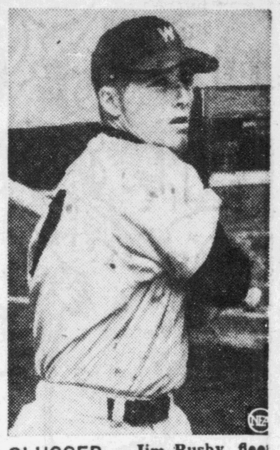
Tied Up Shoulders

He has the tied-up shoulders of the football player. Pitchers who can put the ball where they want it inside have no trouble with him. Handcuffed by an inside pitch, he gets mad and fishes for an outside curve like a caster. The pressure got him to such an extent that he asked to be dropped in the batting order.

"Jensen can't pull the ball. His power is to right center, so I can't see where he is going to be any great shucks in Boston.

"Meanwhile, we have McDermott, a big fellow with unlimited potential just coming into his own at 25, and Umphlett, not yet 23 and an all-round athlete who can't help packing more authority as he matures."

As pointed out before, the Nationals thrive on trades. Whatever they do this season they'll accomplish with other clubs' erstwhile pitchers and outfielders.



SLUGGER — Jim Busby, fleet Washington centerfielder, is expected to take up the runs batted-in slack left by departure of Jackie Jensen. (NEA)

The Yankees contributed hurlers Bob Porterfield and Spec Shea; the White Sox sent them Chuck Stobbs, a left-hander who bagged nine of his last 12 in 1953. Little Connie Marrero is the fifth dependable, and Manager Harris tells you Johnny Schmitz, the one-time southpaw Cub luminary, can still get the other blokes out. He also came from the Yankees.

The White Sox, of course, dealt Busby, and the Red Sox the third outfielder, Clyde Vollmer.

The Nats are set at first and third base will Mickey Vernon unless he's traded, editor's note) and Eddie Yost, and Wayne Terwilliger is sustaining at second.

For them to crash the first division, Pete Runnels simply has to revert to his freshman year as a shortstop. The Oklahoma Kid's batting fell apart with his fielding last year, but Harris, the optimist, says he knows he can do better.

Eddie FitzGerald and Joe Tipton will divide the catching, with neither doing much hitting.

If it turns out that Roy Sievers, obtained from the Orioles for Gil Coan, can't throw well enough to play the outfield, there is practically no bench.

But Bucky Harris has pitchers to throw the ball and outfielders to catch it and has been known to do pretty well with considerably less.

Gulfstream Opens

Miami, Fla., March 3 (AP)—Gulfstream Park takes over Florida's racing operations today with the $10,000 Armed Handicap at six furlongs as a feature and the big question is whether the "track by the sea" can continue the torrid pace in betting and attendance set by Hialeah. Fourteen sprint stars have been entered for the Armed and if all go the winner will get $8,350 from the total purse of $12,600. The Armed, honoring the famous old Calmuet Farm's gelding who starred at Gulfstream, replaces the Inaugural, won last year by Whiffenpoof. Hialeah closed yesterday with new records in both attendance and betting, and the "track beautiful" astonished racegoers with its big increases. Attendance was up 5.02 per cent and wagering showed a gain of 8.04 from last years' record figures.

CYO Playoffs Saturday

St. Mary's Girls, champions of the Ulster County CYO Girls' Metropolitan League, will travel to Poughkeepsie Saturday afternoon to meet the Dutchess county champs. The game is slated for 3 p. m. at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel gymnasium in Poughkeepsie with St. Joachim's of Beacon as the opponents. The feature game will be preceded by the junior girl's championship between the Orange and Dutchess county winners. St. Mary's went through the season with a 7-2 record while St. Joachim's won six straight without a defeat. Winners of these games will be crowned upstate champs and will then meet the New York city area titleholders for the Archdiocesan crown.

S-A Boys Club Wins

The Salvation Army Boys Club scored a 58 to 34 victory over Woodstock this week. High for the Salvation Army was Robinson with 17 markers.

Byrd Key Man

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 4 (AP)—Harry Byrd, the big pitcher, who flopped last year after winning 15 games for the Philadelphia A's in 1952, is one of the key men in the plans of the New York Yankees and no one knows it better than Manager Casey Stengel.

"He has to be figured as one of my regular starters," said Casey today. "He's a big man who has to pitch often. That was one of the things we thought of in trading Raschi. I know he had a bad year last year, but I also know that our hitters didn't like to face him even if he was a 20-game loser."

The Yanks obtained Byrd as part of an 11-man deal with the A's during the winter.

Terry Helps Brooks

Vero Beach, Fla., March 4 (AP)—At 55, Memphis Bill Terry, the ex-manager of the New York Giants—and a hated man in Brooklyn a generation ago—dropped in on the Dodgers today on a social call and promptly was put to work giving batting tips to the players.

Terry held court with some of the Brook batters and told them how he tried to break slumps when he was playing.

"I shuffled up in the batter's box and tried to push the change-up pitch to the opposite field rather than hit for distance," said Terry. "Consider the pitcher your enemy and try to hit the ball right at him so it will hit him in the head."

He promised to stay around until Saturday.

Giants Have Lefties

Phoenix, Ariz., March 4 (AP)—The New York Giants may not win the pennant this year, but the other clubs are not going to take advantage of their lack of left-handed pitchers.

"Last year as soon as I used up Dave Koslo I was finished," said skipper Leo Durocher today. "Then the other side could parade all its big lefties to the plate and I was helpless. Now, besides, Koslo, we've got Johnny Antonelli, Don Liddle, John McCall and Jim Constable."

Knicks Need Four To Clinch Title

(By The Associated Press.)

The New York Knickerbockers were within four games of clinching the National Basketball Association's eastern division title.

The league-leading Knicks defeated the Philadelphia warriors 88-79 last night at White Plains, to stretch their lead to three full games over the second-place Boston Celtics.

In the only other game, the Milwaukee Hawks nipped the Baltimore Bullets 103-100.

Ebelheiser Tallies 35 In Y Game

The J & E Milk Bar, led by Frank Ebelheiser's brilliant performance, upset Back Cedaraps 82 to 63 at the YMCA Wednesday night. Ebelheiser scored 35 points and also played an outstanding floor game. His passing and shooting completely befuddled the Backs team and the outcome of the game was never in doubt as a result.

J & E had leads of 24 to 16, 43 to 29, and 61 to 50. By virtue of the Milk Bar's win over Backs both teams are now tied for first place with 5 and 1 records. Next week Backs face a strong 50 Club while the J & E meets an off and on Greco team.

For J & E Ebelheiser had 35, Bob Faurote 25 and Harry Van Wagenen 16. Backs Huyler Van Wagenen had 17, Jerry Kaplan 15, Bruce Hinkley 13 and Dick Chatham 12 for the losers.

Marine Big Hope For East Glovers

New York, March 4 (AP)—A big, young Leatherneck with the fighting heart of a marine will spearhead a New York-Eastern team which will try and end a long victory-drouth against Chicago-Western squad in Madison Square Garden March 22.

The Easterners haven't beaten the West since 1945 in the National Golden Gloves tournament but they think they might be able to do it this year with 18-year-old Len Kanthal to inspire them.

Kanthal, a 6-2, 207-pound 18-year-old who has been boxing a little over a year, came from behind with a stirring rally to whip New York's defending champion, Julius Griffin, for the heavyweight crown in the Eastern Golden Gloves windup at the Garden last night.

Title to Washington

The Washington youngster not only won the individual title but his thrilling triumph in the last scrap of the three-day tourney gave the Washington squad the team championship with 19 points. New York could have finished first in the scoring with a victory even though the host team is not eligible for the team trophy. The locals wound up with 16 points followed by Charlotte, N. C., and Pittsburgh, 11 each; Newark, N. J., 8; Buffalo, 7; Lowell, Mass., 6; Huntington, W. Va., and Jacksonville, Fla., 1 each and Miami, Fla., nothing.

Staggered in First

Kanthal, a marine Pfc. stationed at Quantico, Va., was staggered in the first round by Griffin, a 196-pound counterman. But in the second the lumbering youngster floored the Negro (he was given the mandatory eight count) and then Kanthal outpunched his foe in the final frame as the crowd of 5,294 roared.

Griffin was the third and last of the three defending champions to get beaten. Both bamtamweight Jimmy Lane of Huntington, W. Va., and featherweight Edson Brown of New York lost out in the semi-finals. Their conquerors, George Davis, Washington 118-pounder, and Harry Smith, Lowell, Mass., 126-pounder, went on to cop the titles.

Other Champions

The other champions crowned were Joe Belleau; New York, 112-pounds; Ernest Williams, Washington, 135-pounds; Reybon Stubbs, Pittsburgh, 147-pounds; John Morris, Pittsburgh, 160-pounds, and Richard Hill, Charlotte, N. C., 175-pounds.

In addition to the eight champions, New York coaches will pick 12 other boxers from the tourney for the team which will face Chicago.

Ferry May Start About March 15

The office of the New York State Bridge Authority today indicated that it plans to resume ferry service on March 15 or as near that date as possible.

It is tentatively planned to resume service on that date, a department spokesman said, but much will depend on weather conditions. If service is not resumed on the 15th, he said, it will not be delayed long after that date.

Mutton Makes Tradition

Banbury, England (AP)—One day in 1874 a stranger bought a leg of mutton in the South Bar street butcher shop. "Hang it up for me," he said, "until I come back." He never did come back. The leg of mutton is still hanging there, and that's how traditions are born in Britain. "It would be like parting with my own leg to get rid of it," was the fond comment recently made by Edwin Walker, present owner of the business. He started in the shop as an apprentice many years ago. The leg, which weighed 13½ pounds in its young muttonhood, is shrunken and wizened now. "It hangs well away from the salable meat, of course," says the butcher's wife. "But it isn't at all objectionable and it has never been treated with a preservative."

Use bread at least half an inch thick, for best results, when you are toasting sandwiches in an electric sandwich grill.

Ferry May Start About March 15

The office of the New York State Bridge Authority today indicated that it plans to resume ferry service on March 15 or as near that date as possible.

It is tentatively planned to resume service on that date, a department spokesman said, but much will depend on weather conditions. If service is not resumed on the 15th, he said, it will not be delayed long after that date.

Mutton Makes Tradition

Banbury, England (AP)—One day in 1874 a stranger bought a leg of mutton in the South Bar street butcher shop. "Hang it up for me," he said, "until I come back." He never did come back. The leg of mutton is still hanging there, and that's how traditions are born in Britain. "It would be like parting with my own leg to get rid of it," was the fond comment recently made by Edwin Walker, present owner of the business. He started in the shop as an apprentice many years ago. The leg, which weighed 13½ pounds in its young muttonhood, is shrunken and wizened now. "It hangs well away from the salable meat, of course," says the butcher's wife. "But it isn't at all objectionable and it has never been treated with a preservative."

Use bread at least half an inch thick, for best results, when you are toasting sandwiches in an electric sandwich grill.

Icy Air Moves Into Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

Skies cleared and snow abated over most of the storm-swept area from the midwest to the Atlantic coast today but a fresh blast of icy air moved into the mid-continent.

The cold air extended as far south as northern Texas and through central Mississippi and Georgia.

The northeast section of the country didn't get the heavy snowfall which hit the midwest Tuesday and Wednesday. Light snow and rain continued today from the eastern Great Lakes region and upper Ohio valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. Rain was confined to the far eastern portion of the wet belt, mostly in the New England area.

It was below zero in the northern plains states and the upper Mississippi valley today as cold air from central Canada extended southward into the Gulf of Mexico. It was 9 degrees below zero in Minot, N. D., and -8 at International Falls, Minn., while the early morning low was 30 at Jackson, Miss., and 29 at Atlanta.

Chicago and other midwest areas dug out of the early March snowstorm with a promise of warmer weather by tomorrow. Chicago's fall of 12 inches was the heaviest in 15 years and the heaviest in the storm-swept area. Fair and comparatively mild weather was reported over most of the southwest.

Meantime, a raging blizzard swept across southwestern Ontario yesterday with nearly 8 inches of fresh snow in areas already hit by a two-day snowfall. Eight deaths were attributed to the three-day storm. Transportation and communications were snarled and many communities were isolated.

Cancer causes about 224,000 deaths a year in the United States.

Mail Friendships Strong

McCrory, Ark. (AP) — Seventy-year-old William J. Padgett recently retired after 45 years of service as a rural mail carrier here. Padgett—who began delivering mail by horseback and wagon in 1909—says he plans to drive over his old route and visit his ex-patrons—if he gets lonesome.

No Sale

Newton, Mass. (AP)—A huge sign outside a prosperous looking furniture store always draws a double take from passersby. It reads: "Never a sale in 13 years." The sign's been there for years and the total is changed annually. The store specializes in high class furniture and obviously belies the first impression given by the sign.

Community Chest Plan Outlined at Rotary

Rotary President Larry V. Bogert outlined the movement to revive the idea of a community chest here and reviewed the preliminary steps taken by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the three service clubs, Lions, Kiwanis and Rotary, at the luncheon-meeting Wednesday of the Rotary Club.

The speaker said that the Junior Chamber and the service clubs will underwrite the normal expenses in conjunction with informing the various organizations on the proposed plan.

Bogert reported that several organizations, which may participate in the community chest, have been approached on the subject of the chest. A meeting will be held March 16 by the Junior Chamber and representatives of the service clubs for further discussion.

Recoveries Exceed Thefts

Lake Rescue on Gary Beach

Marine Sgt. George Hardardt, stationed at Gary, carried injured William Stratham from icy waters of Lake Michigan after a dramatic rescue at Gary, Ind. Stratham and two others were rescued by 75-year-old Fred Carr, Sr., after their fishing boat capsized. Carr, whose son was one of those rescued, launched a boat in rough water and pulled all three to the safety of his craft, background, where Hardardt took over with a Navy man, pointing. Icy Air Moves Into Midwest

(By The Associated Press)

Skies cleared and snow abated over most of the storm-swept area from the midwest to the Atlantic coast today but a fresh blast of icy air moved into the mid-continent.

The cold air extended as far south as northern Texas and through central Mississippi and Georgia.

The northeast section of the country didn't get the heavy snowfall which hit the midwest Tuesday and Wednesday. Light snow and rain continued today from the eastern Great Lakes region and upper Ohio valley eastward to the Atlantic coast. Rain was confined to the far eastern portion of the wet belt, mostly in the New England area.

It was below zero in the northern plains states and the upper Mississippi valley today as cold air from central Canada extended southward into the Gulf of Mexico. It was 9 degrees below zero in Minot, N. D., and -8 at International Falls, Minn., while the early morning low was 30 at Jackson, Miss., and 29 at Atlanta.

Chicago and other midwest areas dug out of the early March snowstorm with a promise of warmer weather by tomorrow. Chicago's fall of 12 inches was the heaviest in 15 years and the heaviest in the storm-swept area. Fair and comparatively mild weather was reported over most of the southwest.

Meantime, a raging blizzard swept across southwestern Ontario yesterday with nearly 8 inches of fresh snow in areas already hit by a two-day snowfall. Eight deaths were attributed to the three-day storm. Transportation and communications were snarled and many communities were isolated.

Cancer causes about 224,000 deaths a year in the United States.

Mail Friendships Strong

McCrory, Ark. (AP) — Seventy-year-old William J. Padgett recently retired after 45 years of service as a rural mail carrier here. Padgett—who began delivering mail by horseback and wagon in 1909—says he plans to drive over his old route and visit his ex-patrons—if he gets lonesome.

No Sale

Newton, Mass. (AP)—A huge sign outside a prosperous looking furniture store always draws a double take from passersby. It reads: "Never a sale in 13 years." The sign's been there for years and the total is changed annually. The store specializes in high class furniture and obviously belies the first impression given by the sign.
